YULE'S HASTY FLIGHT

Even General Symons Believed to Be In Hands of Boers.

BRITISH PUBLIC IN THE DARK.

Due to War Office "Cooking" Dispatches. Certain Junction of Forces Has Occurred—Joubert Likely to Attack Ladysmith Before Buller Arrives.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—An ominous veil was drawn over the movements of General Sir George Stewart White and General Yule in Natal. Beyond belated Ladysmith dispatches concerning the Elandslaagte fight, which are still filtering in, the British public is left in complete darkness and to conjecture over "cooked" war office dispatches.

Since it is practically certain that General Yule has effected a junction with General White, and as both are now in a position of safety, conjecture concerns itself chiefly with the manner of General Yule's retreat. That it was hasty is evident. Was it disorderly? Was any considerable camp equipment abandoned? Was there any fighting on the way? Such questions and others like them the public is anxiously asking. Since the receipt of General White's curious first description of the Ladysmith fight, in which the British lost 100 men, little reliance can be placed on the official dispatches. While the concealment of the facts regarding General Yule's retreat can be amply justified on the ground of keeping the intelligence from the Boers the hiding of the news respecting the Hussars and Fusiliers, who were apparently captured in the battle at Glencoe, is severely criticised, no intimation even having been given that the officers were missing.

The war office made public the following dispatch, in part, sent by General White from Ladysmith: "The advance guard of the forces sent out by me to get in touch with and help General Yule's column was within three miles of that column, which had temporarily halted at Sunday river. 'I have occupied all the strong positions on the road and have no further anxiety about them. I have received from Kenrick, signalling officer of the queen's own regiment, who has ridden in, and also from Colonel Dartnell of the national police, who accompanied the column, the best account of the spirits and efficiency of the troops, who are very anxious to meet the enemy again.' The war office issued the following in part: 'There is nothing to add to General White's description of that engagement, as given in his dispatch, except that we now learn the following casualties:

"First Gloucester:
"Colonel Wilford, killed.
"Wounded:
"Lieutenant Hickie.
"Second battery, field artillery:
"Lieutenant Douglas.
"Fifty-third battery, field artillery:
"Lieutenant Abdy.
"Lieutenant Perreau.
"Lieutenant Hobart.
"Nineteenth Hussars:
"Lieutenant Holford.
"The following casualties occurred among the non-commissioned officers and men:

"Nineteenth Hussars:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 2.
"Fifth Lancers:
"Wounded, 1.
"Artillery, wounded, 5.
"First Devonshire regiment:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 5.
"First Gloucester regiment:
"Killed, 7; wounded, 52; missing, 3.
"Natal volunteers, Carineers:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 10.
"Natal mounted rifles:
"Wounded, 2.
"Border mounted rifles:
"Killed, 2; wounded, 10.
"The total number of casualties as corrected is: Killed, 13; wounded, 93; missing, 3.

"We learn from unofficial sources that the following officers, whose absence had not previously been notified to us, are prisoners in the enemy's hands:

"Eighteenth Hussars — Lieutenant Colonel Moller, Major Greville and Captain Pollock. Dublin Fusiliers — Captain Lonsdale, Lieutenant Le Mesurier, Lieutenant Garvice, Lieutenant Grimshaw, Lieutenant Majendie and Lieutenant Shore.

"It is presumed that the whole squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars, under the command of the officers named, were taken prisoners."

The heavy losses of the British troops in facing only some 8,000 Boers was commented upon as what rifle fire means in the hands of even undisciplined men who can shoot fairly straight and stand their ground. Comparisons are made with the first employment of the magazine rifle in the Hispano-American war, and it is considered that the American losses at El Caney and San Juan would have been much heavier if the Spaniards had doggedly stood their ground like the Boers.

General Sir Redvers Buller is expected to arrive at the Cape early next week, and the indications are that some troops have already arrived at the front and been in the fighting whose arrival has not yet been announced. There is every probability, therefore, that reinforcements are moving up. This is calculated to hasten Commandant General Joubert's attack on Ladysmith, and news of a big battle is daily expected.

About half a complete army corps is now afloat, and a lull occurred in dispatching the remainder of General Buller's forces owing to some difficulty in obtaining transports. The mobilization and embarkation of 21,000 men, however, have proceeded with the utmost smoothness and completeness, extorting admiration from the severest critics of war office organization.

Although news has arrived that General Sir William Penn Symons is doing well, there is no indication as to his whereabouts. It was presumed that he is at Dundee in the hands of the Boers.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Ladysmith, dated Monday, said:

"Thirty of the Eighteenth Hussars, who were sent from Glencoe to intercept the retreat of the Boers from Elandslaagte, were cut off by the enemy. Under Sergeant Baldrey they brilliantly fought their way across the Biggarsberg, the enemy pursuing and firing at them at a range of 300 yards along the passes. They arrived here about 10 o'clock this morning. Three of the troopers are missing owing to the breakdown of their horses. The Boers used a Maxim. A lieutenant of the Hussars with a party was driven back to Glencoe. The Hussars were fired at as far down as Modder Spruit."

Denial as to Wildman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Assistant Secretary of State Hill, who has charge of the consular service, when shown the report from Portland, Or., that Consul Wildman, at Hongkong, will be succeeded by Dr. Bedloe, authorized the positive statement that Dr. Bedloe will not succeed Consul Wildman; that Consul Wildman had not been detached, nor was such action under contemplation. The case of Dr. Bedloe was still under advisement.

Order of Kings' Daughters Met.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 26.—The Order of Kings' Daughters and Sons began its third annual convention in Ascension Protestant Episcopal church. Mrs. B. C. Whitney of Detroit, president of the national conference, presided over the deliberations of the body, which included, besides 60 delegates from all parts of the country, a number of local members of the order.

Chappelle Again Saw Root.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Secretary Root received a call from Archbishop Chappelle. The conference was for the purpose of discussing the archbishop's forthcoming trip to the Philippines, probably by the transport Sherman, leaving San Francisco on the 10th ult.

TO WATCH ENGLAND

European Fleets Likely to Be Mobilized.

NAVAL ACTIVITY IN BRITAIN.

Cruisers Being Gotten Ready and Reserves Ordered — France, Italy, Germany and Russia Said to Be Aroused. Beresford to Command.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—There is talk in diplomatic circles of the joint conference which was held between the emperor, Admiral Tirpitz, the secretary of the admiralty, and Count Von Buelow, the minister of foreign affairs.

The admiral, the next day, went to Baden-Baden for the purpose of reporting to the imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe.

The Freisinnige Zeitung asserted that both the conference and the trip of Tirpitz signify that orders will soon be given for the sending of German war vessels to the Mediterranean.

It is not doubted in Berlin that further aggression on the part of England in Africa will precipitate an international war.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Dispatches from the continent to The Daily News says that the French fleet has received instructions to watch the movements of the British Mediterranean squadron, and that the Italian fleet is under orders to concentrate in the Bay of Spezia.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—British naval preparations caused a strong reiteration of serious foreign complications. It was said that Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford will command the Mediterranean squadron, and details of the activity at the dockyards and naval stations came in hot and fast. It was learned, however, that whether or no Great Britain seriously fears Russian or French aggression, the naval preparations have been under consideration for several months and it was the admiralty's intention to put them in force as soon as war with the Transvaal was declared, deeming it necessary to increase the active strength of the navy in order to insure the large fleet of transports against every possible contingency.

The naval reserves have been ordered to be in readiness to rejoin their ships at 24 hours' notice, while all the cruisers of the reserve class have been notified to be ready to sail in the same time limit.

In addition to these preparations work on the uncompleted vessels is being hurried day and night. The special attention being paid to the cruisers is taken by many naval authorities to indicate that Great Britain intends to form a menacing flying squadron, using the term "menacing" because the naval force at sea now is ample to convey the transports and is thoroughly capable of preventing any interference in South African waters.

While the British officials did not conceal their knowledge of German, French and Russian antagonism and their irritation thereat, they do not give the slightest hint that European hostility will crystallize into any probable overt act.

The belief that Great Britain is on the verge of a crisis or even a conflict far greater than that in the Transvaal has many supporters, though the lack of all official confirmation favors the conservative views that the remarkable military and naval activity is due to a desire to take thorough precautions, which, though ominous, have at present no special bearing upon Great Britain's European relations.

Advices from the continent strengthen this view. For instance, The Freudenblatt of Vienna said: "Nothing points to the eventuality of the intervention of Europe in favor of the Boers."

The paper added that Germany especially has resolved "not to depart from her attitude of neutrality."

On the other hand the Neues Weiner-Blatt published a telegram from the Transvaal legation at Brussels announcing that Dr. Leyds had received formal assurances that France and Russia will not permit Great Britain to annex the Transvaal or the Orange Free State.

This is discredited, however, as it is pointed out that even if this were the intention of the powers mentioned they would not allow their hands to be shown prematurely through the medium of Dr. Leyds.

The Russian newspapers may be somewhat responsible for the impression in regard to European intervention, the St. Petersburg Russkijia advocating that Great Britain be brought to her senses by a naval demonstration in South Africa in which France would take the lead.

DAVITT QUILTS PARLIAMENT

Announced He Would Leave Today as Protest Against War Against Boers—Chamberlain's Reply.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Michael Davitt, Irish Nationalist member for South Mayo, announced in the house of commons that he would resign today as a protest against the Boer war.

Regarding Mr. Davitt, Mr. Chamberlain, in the house of commons, said he recognized that he had hitherto discussed the matter moderately and sincerely, "and," he added, "I would pay the greatest attention to his arguments if I did not know he would use precisely the same arguments in regard to any British war, which are based on his enmity to England."

Mr. Chamberlain then said:

"What would have been the Irish argument in the Spanish-American war, in which Spain showed herself infinitely less capable of defending herself than the Transvaal—"

Here William Redmond, Parnellite member for East Clare, shouted:

"The Transvaal did not blow up your warships."

Mr. Chamberlain continued: "The great, almost determining contest between the United States and Spain was fought without the loss of a single American. We have never denied that the Transvaal was a foeman worthy of our steel. Not only was the disparity between the forces in the Spanish-American war as great as those now engaged, but the contention of the United States and their right of interference arose from the fact that at some distance from their territories there was oppression, not of American citizens, but of another race of people, and that justified the intervention of the United States in the mind of the civilized world, or, at any rate, in the eyes of Englishmen and Irishmen. But we are interfering in behalf of our own people. It is perfectly certain that Mr. Davitt but for his hatred of England would sympathize with us as he did with America."

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

War Office Put Number of Dead and Wounded at 597, Not Including Missing Hussars.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The war office returns show that the total British casualties since the beginning of hostilities reach 597, 18 officers having been killed and 55 wounded, and 76 men killed and 430 wounded. There are 13 unaccounted for.

This total, however, does not include the squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars which went astray near Dundee, and the officers of the Dublin Fusiliers.

The report of heavy losses sent from Rietfontein came as an unpleasant surprise, as General White's telegram to the war office gave the impression that there was merely a brush.

GENERAL SYMONS DOING WELL.

The Bullet Extracted and He Was Reported as Cheerful.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 26.—Intelligence received here from Natal said the bullet had been extracted from the wound of General Symons, who was struck down while leading his troops at the battle of Glencoe, and that the patient was cheerful and doing well.

Advices from Orange river, Cape Colony, near the Orange Free State border, announced that the Boers had taken Kripdam, near Barkly West, north of Kimberley, and that Assistant Magistrate Harmsworth and his clerk are prisoners. It was supposed that the Boers were advancing on Douglas, farther west, the inhabitants of which place were asking for protection.

Banker Henry Died Suddenly.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Frank L. Henry, a well-known banker, died suddenly at the Racquet club of apoplexy, aged 40. Mr. Henry was apparently in the very best of health when he went to the club.

Denby Saw the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Col. Charles Denby of the Philippine commission had a conference with the president, but declined to make any statement for publication.

FAITHFUL IN LOVE

Austrian Crown Princess to Marry Count Lonyai.

LEOPOLD INTERFERED IN VAIN.

The King of Belgium Tried to Induce His Daughter to Give Up Her Lover, but She Refused—He Threatened to Disinherit Her.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 26.—King Leopold, after having done all in his power to prevent the coming marriage of his daughter, the Crown Princess Stephanie of Austria to Count Lonyai, threatens to deprive her in future of the annual allowance which both she and her sister have until now received from him.

The king has been out of humor ever since he learned that the crown princess had resolved to contract a morganatic marriage. The combined efforts of the Belgian and Austrian courts to break off the betrothal have proven in vain.

By marrying Count Lonyai the crown princess will not only lose her father's favor, but she will also be deprived of the important position which she holds in the Austrian empire.

RUSSIAN NAVAL SCANDAL.

Number of Officers Arrested on Admiral Tyrtoff's Charges.

ODESSA, Oct. 26.—At Sevastopol, 43 government officials have been arrested and will be tried by court-martial Dec. 2. Among the accused are many high naval officers, including the former senior port officer, Commander Relitsky, several well-known contractors, nearly every chief engineer of the ships in Russia's Black sea fleet, the commissary officers and others. It was reported that several of the accused have committed suicide rather than stand trial for, if found guilty, they would be banished to Siberia.

Vice Admiral Tyrtoff, the Russian naval commander in the Black sea, was responsible for the arrests. He alleged that the officials of the various government departments from Sevastopol to Nikolajev have for a long time been engaged in a huge conspiracy to misappropriate funds and sell government supplies, covering their defalcations by forgery and suppressing information by widely distributed bribes.

FUNERAL OF CAPTAIN HOWARD.

Insurgents Return to Calamba and Are Surrounding the Town.

MANILA, Oct. 26.—The funeral of Captain Guy Howard, son of General O. O. Howard, who was killed near Arayat, Sunday, was held and was attended by a large number of officers and men. After the exercises the body was escorted by troops to the transport Belgian King.

The Twenty-sixth infantry arrived here on the transport Grant and sailed for Iloilo without disembarking.

The insurgents have returned to the vicinity of Calamba. They have increased in numbers and are surrounding the town on the land sides.

At San Isidro about 30 hours' rain raised the river, and supplies are arriving there in the casques of the natives.

The health of the returning columns is excellent.

P. E. MISSIONARY COUNCIL.

Bishop Doane Made a Speech Supporting Philippine Policy.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—Bishop Doane of Albany, in his address before the Protestant Episcopal missionary council, in session here, supported the policy of the administration in taking the Philippines under national protection.

Missionaries from Cuba and Porto Rico presented the needs of the people of those islands, and after some discussion it was decided to send a bishop to the latter islands.

Distant Relative of McKinley Killed.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 26.—Philip Stambaugh, son of Captain and Mrs. D. B. Stambaugh of this city, was instantly killed near Venetia, Pa., while trying to adjust some machinery with a bar of iron, the bar striking him over the heart. He leaves a widow and two children. Mr. Stambaugh's mother is a cousin of President McKinley.

ODESSA, Oct. 26.—At Sevastopol, 43 government officials have been arrested and will be tried by court-martial Dec. 2. Among the accused are many high naval officers, including the former senior port officer, Commander Relitsky, several well-known contractors, nearly every chief engineer of the ships in Russia's Black sea fleet, the commissary officers and others. It was reported that several of the accused have committed suicide rather than stand trial for, if found guilty, they would be banished to Siberia.

Vice Admiral Tyrtoff, the Russian naval commander in the Black sea, was responsible for the arrests. He alleged that the officials of the various government departments from Sevastopol to Nikolaevo have for a long time been engaged in a huge conspiracy to misappropriate funds and sell government supplies, covering their defalcations by forgery and suppressing information by widely distributed bribes.

The Twenty-sixth infantry arrived here on the transport Grant and sailed for Iloilo without disembarking.

The insurgents have returned to the vicinity of Calamba. They have increased in numbers and are surrounding the town on the land sides.

At San Isidro about 30 hours' rain raised the river, and supplies are arriving there in the cascoes of the natives.

The health of the returning columns is excellent.

YULE'S HASTY FLIGHT

Even General Symons Believed to Be In Hands of Boers.

BRITISH PUBLIC IN THE DARK.

Due to War Office "Cooking" Dispatches. Certain Junction of Forces Has Occurred—Joubert Likely to Attack Ladysmith Before Buller Arrives.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—An ominous veil was drawn over the movements of General Sir George Stewart White and General Sir George Yule in Natal. Beyond belated Ladysmith dispatches concerning the Elandsbaagte fight, which are still filtering in, the British public is left in complete darkness and to conjecture over "cooked" war office dispatches.

Since it is practically certain that General Yule has effected a junction with General White, and as both are now in a position of safety, conjecture concerns itself chiefly with the manner of General Yule's retreat. That it was hasty is evident. Was it disorderly? Was any considerable camp equipment abandoned? Was there any fighting on the way? Such questions and others like them the public is anxiously asking. Since the receipt of General White's curious first description of the Ladysmith fight, in which the British lost 100 men, little reliance can be placed on the official dispatches. While the concealment of the facts regarding General Yule's retreat can be amply justified on the ground of keeping the intelligence from the Boers the hiding of the news respecting the Hussars and Fusiliers, who were apparently captured in the battle at Glencoe, is severely criticised, no intimation even having been given that the officers were missing.

The war office made public the following dispatch, in part, sent by General White from Ladysmith:

"The advance guard of the forces sent out by me to get in touch with and help General Yule's column was within three miles of that column, which had temporarily halted at Sunday river.

"I have occupied all the strong positions on the road and have no further anxiety about them. I have received from Kenrick, signalling officer of the queen's own regiment, who has ridden in, and also from Colonel Dartnell of the national police, who accompanied the column, the best account of the spirits and efficiency of the troops, who are very anxious to meet the enemy again."

The war office issued the following in part: "There is nothing to add to General White's description of that engagement, as given in his dispatch, except that we now learn the following casualties:

"First Gloucester:
"Colonel Wilford, killed.
"Wounded:
"Lieutenant Hickie.
"Second battery, field artillery:
"Lieutenant Douglas.
"Fifth battery, field artillery:
"Major Abby.
"Lieutenant Perreau.
"Lieutenant Hobart.
"Nineteenth Hussars:
"Lieutenant Holford.

"The following casualties occurred among the non-commissioned officers and men:
"Chappelle Again Saw Root.

"Nineteenth Hussars:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 2.
"Fifth Lancers:
"Wounded, 1.
"Artillery, wounded, 5.
"First Devonshire regiment:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 5.
"First Gloucester regiment:
"Killed, 7; wounded, 52; missing, 3.
"Natal volunteers, Carineers:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 10.
"Natal mounted rifles:
"Wounded, 2.
"Border mounted rifles:
"Killed, 2; wounded, 10.
"The total number of casualties as corrected is: Killed, 13; wounded, 93; missing, 3.

"We learn from unofficial sources that the following officers, whose absence had not previously been notified to us, are prisoners in the enemy's hands:

"Eighteenth Hussars — Lieutenant Colonel Moller, Major Greville and Captain Pollock. Dublin Fusiliers—Captain Lonsdale, Lieutenant Le Mespue, Lieutenant Garvice, Lieutenant Grimshaw, Lieutenant Majendie and Lieutenant Shore.

"It is presumed that the whole squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars, under the command of the officers named, were taken prisoners."

The heavy losses of the British troops in facing only some 8,000 Boers was commented upon as what rifle fire means in the hands of even undisciplined men who can shoot fairly straight and stand their ground. Comparisons are made with the first employment of the magazine rifle in the Hispano-American war, and it is considered that the American losses at El Caney and San Juan would have been much heavier if the Spaniards had doggedly stood their ground like the Boers.

General Sir Redvers Buller is expected to arrive at the Cape early next week, and the indications are that some troops have already arrived at the front and been in the fighting whose arrival has not yet been announced. There is every probability, therefore, that reinforcements are moving up. This is calculated to hasten Commandant General Joubert's attack on Ladysmith, and news of a big battle is daily expected.

About half a complete army corps is now afloat, and a lull occurred in dispatching the remainder of General Buller's forces owing to some difficulty in obtaining transports. The mobilization and embarkation of 21,000 men, however, have proceeded with the utmost smoothness and completeness, extorting admiration from the severest critics of war office organization.

Although news has arrived that General Sir William Penn Symons is doing well, there is no indication as to his whereabouts. It was presumed that he is at Dundee in the hands of the Boers.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Ladysmith, dated Monday, said:

"Thirty of the Eighteenth Hussars, who were sent from Glencoe to intercept the retreat of the Boers from Elandsbaagte, were cut off by the enemy. Under Sergeant Baldrey they brilliantly fought their way across the Biggarsberg, the enemy pursuing and firing at them at a range of 300 yards along the passes. They arrived here about 10 o'clock this morning. Three of the troopers are missing owing to the breakdown of their horses. The Boers used a Maxim. A lieutenant of the Hussars with a party was driven back to Glencoe. The Hussars were fired at as far down as Modder Spruit."

Denial as to Wildman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Assistant Secretary of State Hill, who has charge of the consular service, when shown the report from Portland, Or., that Consul Wildman, at Hongkong, will be succeeded by Dr. Bedloe, authorized the positive statement that Dr. Bedloe will not succeed Consul Wildman; that Consul Wildman had not been detached, nor was such action under contemplation. The case of Dr. Bedloe was still under advisement.

TO WATCH ENGLAND

European Fleets Likely to Be Mobilized.

NAVAL ACTIVITY IN BRITAIN.

Cruisers Being Gotten Ready and Reserves Ordered — France, Italy, Germany and Russia Said to Be Aroused. Beresford to Command.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—There is talk in diplomatic circles of the joint conference which was held between the emperor, Admiral Tirpitz, the secretary of the admiralty, and Count Von Buelow, the minister of foreign affairs.

The admiral, the next day, went to Baden-Baden for the purpose of reporting to the imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe.

The Freisinnige Zeitung asserted that both the conference and the trip of Tirpitz signify that orders will soon be given for the sending of German war vessels to the Mediterranean.

It is not doubted in Berlin that further aggression on the part of England in Africa will precipitate an international war.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Dispatches from the continent to The Daily News says that the French fleet has received instructions to watch the movements of the British Mediterranean squadron, and that the Italian fleet is under orders to concentrate in the Bay of Spezia.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—British naval preparations caused a strong reiteration of serious foreign complications. It was said that Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford will command the Mediterranean squadron, and details of the activity at the dockyards and naval stations came in hot and fast. It was learned, however, that whether or no Great Britain seriously fears Russian or French aggression, the naval preparations have been under consideration for several months and it was the admiralty's intention to put them in force as soon as war with the Transvaal was declared, deeming it necessary to increase the active strength of the navy in order to insure the large fleet of transports against every possible contingency.

The naval reserves have been ordered to be in readiness to rejoin their ships at 24 hours' notice, while all the cruisers of the reserve class have been notified to be ready to sail in the same time limit.

In addition to these preparations work on the uncompleted vessels is being hurried day and night. The special attention being paid to the cruisers is taken by many naval authorities to indicate that Great Britain intends to form a menacing flying squadron, using the term "menacing" because the naval force at sea now is ample to convey the transports and is thoroughly capable of preventing any interference in South African waters.

While the British officials did not conceal their knowledge of German, French and Russian antagonism and their irritation therat, they do not give the slightest hint that European hostility will crystallize into any probable overt act.

The belief that Great Britain is on the verge of a crisis or even a conflict far greater than that in the Transvaal has many supporters, though the lack of all official confirmation favors the conservative views that the remarkable military and naval activity is due to a desire to take thorough precautions, which, though ominous, have at present no special bearing upon Great Britain's European relations.

Advices from the continent strengthen this view. For instance, The Freimdenblatt of Vienna said: "Nothing points to the eventuality of the intervention of Europe in favor of the Boers."

The paper added that Germany especially has resolved "not to depart from her attitude of neutrality."

On the other hand the Neues Weiner-Tagblatt published a telegram from the Transvaal legation at Brussels announcing that Dr. Leyds had received formal assurances that France and Russia will not permit Great Britain to annex the Transvaal or the Orange Free State. This is discredited, however, as it is pointed out that even if this were the intention of the powers mentioned they would not allow their hands to be shown prematurely through the medium of Dr. Leyds.

The Russian newspapers may be somewhat responsible for the impression in regard to European intervention, the St. Petersburg Russkija advocating that Great Britain be brought to her senses by a naval demonstration in South Africa in which France would take the lead.

DAVITT QUILTS PARLIAMENT

Announced He Would Leave Today as Protest Against War Against Boers—Chamberlain's Reply.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Michael Davitt, Irish Nationalist member for South Mayo, announced in the house of commons that he would resign today as a protest against the Boer war.

Regarding Mr. Davitt, Mr. Chamberlain, in the house of commons, said he recognized that he had hitherto discussed the matter moderately and sincerely, "and," he added, "I would pay the greatest attention to his arguments if I did not know he would use precisely the same arguments in regard to any British war, which are based on his enmity to England."

Mr. Chamberlain then said: "What would have been the Irish argument in the Spanish-American war, in which Spain showed herself infinitely less capable of defending herself than the Transvaal—"

Here William Redmond, Parnellite member for East Clare, shouted:

"The Transvaal did not blow up your warships."

Mr. Chamberlain continued: "The great, almost determining contest between the United States and Spain was fought without the loss of a single American. We have never denied that the Transvaal was a foeman worthy of our steel. Not only was the disparity between the forces in the Spanish-American war as great as those now engaged, but the contention of the United States and their right of interference arose from the fact that at some distance from their territories there was oppression, not of American citizens, but of another race of people, and that justified the intervention of the United States in the mind of the civilized world, or, at any rate, in the eyes of Englishmen and Irishmen. But we are interfering in behalf of our own people. It is perfectly certain that Mr. Davitt but for his hatred of England would sympathize with us as he did with America."

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

War Office Put Number of Dead and Wounded at 597, Not Including Missing Hussars.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The war office returns show that the total British casualties since the beginning of hostilities reach 597, 18 officers having been killed and 55 wounded, and 76 men killed and 450 wounded. There are 13 unaccounted for.

This total, however, does not include the squadron of the Eighteenth hussars which went astray near Dundee, and the officers of the Dublin fusiliers.

The report of heavy losses sent from Eiettontein came as an unpleasant surprise, as General White's telegram to the war office gave the impression that there was merely a brush.

GENERAL SYMONS DOING WELL.

The bullet extracted and he was reported as cheerful.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 26.—Intelligence received here from Natal said the bullet had been extracted from the wound of General Symons, who was struck down while leading his troops at the battle of Glencoe, and that the patient was cheerful and doing well.

Advices from Orange river, Cape Colony, near the Orange Free State border, announced that the Boers had taken Kripdam, near Barkly West, north of Kimberley, and that Assistant Magistrate Harrismorth and his clerk are prisoners. It was supposed that the Boers were advancing on Douglas, farther west, the inhabitants of which place were asking for protection.

FAITHFUL IN LOVE

Austrian Crown Princess to Marry Count Lonyai.

LEOPOLD INTERFERED IN VAIN.

The King of Belgium Tried to Induce His Daughter to Give Up Her Lover, but She Refused—He Threatened to Disinherit Her.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 26.—King Leopold, after having done all in his power to prevent the coming marriage of his daughter, the Crown Princess Stephanie of Austria to Count Lonyai, threatens to deprive her in future of the annual allowance which both she and her sister have until now received from him.

The king has been out of humor ever since he learned that the crown princess had resolved to contract a morganatic marriage. The combined efforts of the Belgian and Austrian courts to break off the betrothal have proven in vain.

By marrying Count Lonyai the crown princess will not only lose her father's favor, but she will also be deprived of the important position which she holds in the Austrian empire.

RUSSIAN NAVAL SCANDAL.

Number of Officers Arrested on Admiral Tyrtoff's Charges.

ODESSA, Oct. 26.—At Sevastopol, 43 government officials have been arrested and will be tried by court-martial Dec. 2. Among the accused are many high naval officers, including the former senior port officer, Commander Relitsky, several well-known contractors, nearly every chief engineer of the ships in Russia's Black sea fleet, the commissary officers and others. It was reported that several of the accused have committed suicide rather than stand trial for, if found guilty, they would be banished to Siberia.

TO BUILD NEW OUTLETS

An Improvement Will Be Made on River Avenue.

STARTING OF LAUGHLIN POTTERY

Will Hardly Occur Before December--Rumors of a Meeting of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson Company--First Kiln of Green Saggers Burned Today.

Next week Robert Finley, of East End, will commence the work of constructing new outlets to the four sewers and other drains on River avenue. Attention was called by council at its last meeting relative to this matter. The outlets of sewers emptying into the river along this street are not in need of repairing so much as the places where the water has gone over the banks and caused many deep cuts. There are several instances where the heavy rains of the past summer did much damage in this respect. Near the McKinnon residence on River avenue a bad washout was caused because of no drain. Another washout of similar character occurred at the foot of Ohio and River avenues. It will require about a week to complete the work.

IN DECEMBER.

Not Likely Laughlin's Will Commence Operations Before That Time.

Manager Harker has found it to be impossible to commence the making of ware at the new Laughlin pottery by the first of November but is of the opinion that everything will be in readiness by December 1. Today the first kiln of green saggers was fired and others fires will be lit within the next few days. The last bands are now being placed on the biscuit kilns, and the finishing work is being done to the glaze kilns. The mould makers have done much work since they have started and are now making moulds for the colonial dinner set. Everything is being done by the company to make the pottery the most complete of any in the city.

SOME DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

Yesterday Marshal Starkey, of Irondale, was in the city and arrested Mrs. James Robinson upon a charge of deserting her children. The charge was preferred by her husband, and the case will be heard in Irondale today. A number of East End and Wellsville witnesses have been subpoenaed. According to the story told by Constable Thorne, of Wellsville, the trouble dates back for quite a time. He says Robinson cleared his wife out of the house and she did not go back. Robinson then went to Irondale, taking the children with him, and was living with another woman. The Irondale authorities had him arrested and he was fined. He then sent for his wife and she refused to go to him, and that is the reason the case was entered against her.

THE EAST END.

TO BUILD NEW OUTLETS

An Improvement Will Be Made on River Avenue.

STARTING OF LAUGHLIN POTTERY

Will Hardly Occur Before December--Rumors of a Meeting of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson Company--First Kiln of Green Saggers Burned Today.

Next week Robert Finley, of East End, will commence the work of constructing new outlets to the four sewers and other drains on River avenue. Attention was called by council at its last meeting relative to this matter. The outlets of sewers emptying into the river along this street are not in need of repairing so much as the places where the water has gone over the banks and caused many deep cuts. There are several instances where the heavy rains of the past summer did much damage in this respect. Near the McKinnon residence on River avenue a bad washout was caused because of no drain. Another washout of similar character occurred at the foot of Ohio and River avenues. It will require about a week to complete the work.

IN DECEMBER.

Not Likely Laughlin's Will Commence Operations Before That Time.

Manager Harker has found it to be impossible to commence the making of ware at the new Laughlin pottery by the first of November but is of the opinion that everything will be in readiness by December 1. Today the first kiln of green saggers was fired and others fires will be lit within the next few days. The last bands are now being placed on the biscuit kilns, and the finishing work is being done to the glost kilns. The mould makers have done much work since they have started and are now making moulds for the colonial dinner set. Everything is being done by the company to make the pottery the most complete of any in the city.

WILL MEET.

Rumors of a Stockholders' Meeting of the K., T. & A. Co.

There was a rumor afloat in East End yesterday that a meeting of stockholders of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson sewerpipe company would be held soon. A call was made at the office of the company during the afternoon, but that place was locked.

Motormen Will Meet.

The regular meeting of the street car motormen is scheduled for next Saturday night. It is understood that matters pertaining to the reducing of the working hours of the conductors will be discussed.

The Fire Is Out.

The fire that had been burning on the hills in Dry Run for several days has been put out at last. It was one of the worst fires of that character in the East End district for years.

To Start Next Monday.

After a 10 days' shut down on account of a break in the machinery the East End brick works will resume operations next Monday. The necessary repairs are now being made.

Clay For the Schools.

The Salem China company has donated a barrel of clay to the public schools. It is to be used by the lower grades for modeling cubes and other figures.—Salem Herald.

SOME DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

IS Being Aired Today In the Irondale Courts--Parties Are Known Here.

Yesterday Marshal Starkey, of Irondale, was in the city and arrested Mrs. James Robinson upon a charge of deserting her children. The charge was preferred by her husband, and the case will be heard in Irondale today. A number of East End and Wellsville witnesses have been subpoenaed. According to the story told by Constable Thorne, of Wellsville, the trouble dates back for quite a time. He says Robinson cleared his wife out of the house and she did not go back. Robinson then went to Irondale, taking the children with him, and was living with another woman. The Irondale authorities had him arrested and he was fined. He then sent for his wife and she refused to go to him, and that is the reason the case was entered against her.

The Retail Grocery and Provision Clerk's union at a special meeting voted on one new member. The meeting was called for the purpose of settling a dispute between the local and the teamsters' union in regard to some members who had joined the teamsters' union by mistake. A committee has been appointed from each union and the matter will be amicably adjusted.

THE CHELSEA.

A Company Will Try to Purchase the New Cumberland Pottery.

The Chelsea pottery at New Cumberland is still idle, the last attempt to purchase it being made by parties from this city. It is understood that a company is being formed to make an attempt to purchase the plant, but if they are not successful their names will never be given to the public. Thomas Price, of the Toronto pottery, says the Chelsea is the best plant ever built in this section.

SMALL BOYS ARE BAD

The Mayor Has Some Complaints

ABOUT THE WAY THEY ACT

In Different Localities of the City--Three of Them Appear, Get a Lecture, and There Are More to Follow--Routine Police Business.

There was not an arrest yesterday, but Mayor Bough heard two complaints and each time the offenders were small boys.

Mrs. Hancock, who resides on Lisbon street, made complaint to His Honor that there is a crowd of small boys who make trouble for residents of that vicinity. They ring door bells, knock on the windows and in fact do everything possible to annoy the residents. They capped the climax a few evenings ago when they upset a wagon belonging to Mr. Vale which was standing in front of the home of Mrs. Hancock. The list of offenders included Joe Strauss, Sam Waters, Ed Dinerstein, Clarence McDole, Williard McDole, Frank Ward and Ed McShane.

Officer Mahony was sent out to gather in the boys and three of them called at the mayor's office last night. The mayor gave them a good lecture and let them go home, telling them the matter was too serious for him to decide without more thought. Strauss, Dinerstein and Ward are the boys who are accused of upsetting the wagon.

Another Gang of Boys.

The mayor received a complaint from one of the teachers at the Sheridan avenue school that a crowd of small boys who don't attend school, are in the habit of loafing around the school building, and interfering with the studies of the children. They pull down windows, blow tobacco smoke in the room, yell and act like a band of young Indians. A list of the boys will be submitted to the mayor and the gang will be rounded up. Both crowds of youngsters may find their way to Lancaster unless they reform.

Ordinary Police Cases.

Ellis T. Shriver made complaint against Hennel O'Brien for acting disorderly in a Market street saloon. O'Brien was arrested, but Shriver withdrew the charge.

John Robinson, who was arrested by Officer Mahony while trying to get in the gallery window, was fined $6.60 when he appeared before the mayor this morning.

Bureau of Information.

Mayor Bough is often called upon to settle disputes of all kinds and character and many people call upon him as referee in arguments. This morning he was asked to settle an argument in regard to the dog law and furnished the young men with the desired information.

The Khalifa Fled.

CAIRO, Oct. 26.—The khalifa having fled from his position at Jeb El Bir, Major General Lord Kitchener ordered the Anglo-Egyptian expedition to return to Omdurman. A reconnaissance to Jeb El Bir will be made by the cavalry and camel corps before the return of the expeditionary troops.

Miners Still Out.

LISBON, Oct. 26.—[Special]—The situation at the mines in Salem township remains the same, and the miners say they will stay out until Christmas if the operators don't come to their terms. The shut down is making coal a very scarce article in this vicinity.

ANOTHER GANG OF BOYS.

The mayor received a complaint from one of the teachers at the Sheridan avenue school that a crowd of small boys who don't attend school, are in the habit of loafing around the school building, and interfering with the studies of the children. They pull down windows, blow tobacco smoke in the room, yell and act like a band of young Indians. A list of the boys will be submitted to the mayor and the gang will be rounded up. Both crowds of youngsters may find their way to Lancaster unless they reform.

ORDINARY POLICE CASES.

John Robinson, who was arrested by Officer Mahony while trying to get in the gallery window, was fined $6.60 when he appeared before the mayor this morning.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Mayor Bough is often called upon to settle disputes of all kinds and character and many people call upon him as referee in arguments. This morning he was asked to settle an argument in regard to the dog law and furnished the young men with the desired information.

SMALL BOYS ARE BAD

The Mayor Has Some Complaints

ABOUT THE WAY THEY ACT

In Different Localities of the City--Three of Them Appear, Get a Lecture, and There Are More to Follow--Routine Police Business.

There was not an arrest yesterday, but Mayor Bough heard two complaints and each time the offenders were small boys.

Mrs. Hancock, who resides on Lisbon street, made complaint to His Honor that there is a crowd of small boys who make trouble for residents of that vicinity. They ring door bells, knock on the windows and in fact do everything possible to annoy the residents. They capped the climax a few evenings ago when they upset a wagon belonging to Mr. Vale which was standing in front of the home of Mrs. Hancock. The list of offenders included Joe Strauss, Sam Waters, Ed Dinerstein, Clarence McDole, Williard McDole, Frank Ward and Ed McShane.

Officer Mahony was sent out to gather in the boys and three of them called at the mayor's office last night. The mayor gave them a good lecture and let them go home, telling them the matter was too serious for him to decide without more thought. Strauss, Dinerstein and Ward are the boys who are accused of upsetting the wagon.

Another Gang of Boys.

The mayor received a complaint from one of the teachers at the Sheridan avenue school that a crowd of small boys who don't attend school, are in the habit of loafing around the school building, and interfering with the studies of the children. They pull down windows, blow tobacco smoke in the room, yell and act like a band of young Indians. A list of the boys will be submitted to the mayor and the gang will be rounded up. Orders for changes to be made or work to be done should come from the council as a body, from a committee or some authorized official, and not from every kept. More than that, the fulfillment has been beyond the pledge. Republicans can point with pride to the platform of '96 and to the administration that has carried out in letter and spirit every word of every plank.

TOLEDO JONES.

He has been the recipient of great benefits from the Republican party. He has held fat office through the instrumentality of Republican ballots. He is now an ingrate, a kicker and a sore-head, and is being made use of as a tool by the Democratic party. Every vote cast for Jones is a helper to Democracy and a stab to Judge Nash and the Republican party. Bear this in mind, true Republicans, and vote for your party ticket.

TOO MUCH OF IT.

There has been altogether too much of what has been called "one man power" in municipal affairs. This thing of one member of council with a pull ordering changes made and work done by city employees on his own initiative has been a fertile cause of complaint from justly aggrieved property owners. Because a man is elected to council does not give him any greater authority as an individual than he had as a private citizen. City employees are not the personal attendants of members of council. Orders for changes to be made or work to be done should come from the council as a body, from a committee or some authorized official, and not from every Tom, Dick and Harry who wriggles into a seat in council and immediately assumes the proprietorship of this particular portion of the earth.

REPUBLICANS.

Make note that THE LOWER REGION SHEET, of no known political faith, is devoting its columns to slandering Republicans and Republican gatherings, and doing all it can, in a sneaking manner, to belittle the party which has brought unprecedented success to the country at large. Its supposititious owner and proprietor blows hot and cold; silver advocacy in one county—gold advocacy in another. All is fish that comes to his net. He prays, very fervently, "Good Lord—good devil." Republicans, in common with all men and voters who love courage and consistency, will look upon the fellow and his sheet with contempt and act accordingly.

AT LAST.

After over a year of talk, postponement and talk, council has at last decided to go ahead with the improvement of Trentvale street, the only fairly level outlet to the north of the city. The grading is to be done at once and the improvement completed as far as the $6,000 on hand will take it. It is hoped to have the grading done this fall and the street ready for further improvement in the spring. Having gone so far, the people look to council to do what they have promised. Trentvale street has many advantages. Horses are not blown before they get out of town climbing the hills back of the city. When improved there will be a fine outlet with an easy grade as far as Cannon's Mills. Good roads, offering easy ingress and egress to the city will be an invaluable boon.

COURT DECISION.

An Interesting Opinion Handed Down at Lisbon This Morning.

LISBON, Oct. 26.—[Special]—The court delivered an interesting opinion this morning in the case of Benjamin A. McCloskey against Thomas Thomas and others. An action was brought against the heirs of Emily R. Thomas, of Unity township, to foreclose a mortgage. The heirs were made party to the case and a decree taken for the sale of the property. Then an administrator of the estate was appointed. He was made a party by the plaintiff, but was not given time to answer before the sale was made. On the application to confirm the sale he objected. Held by the court that the administrator was not a necessary party to the case, but that he was a proper party, and after having been made a party by the plaintiff should have been given time to answer. Not having this time the sale was set aside.

REPUBLICANS.

Make note that THE LOWER REGION SHEET, of no known political faith, is devoting its columns to slandering Republicans and Republican gatherings, and doing all it can, in a sneaking manner, to belittle the party which has brought unprecedented success to the country at large. Its supposititious owner and proprietor blows hot and cold; silver advocacy in one county—gold advocacy in another. All is fish that comes to his net. He prays, very fervently, "Good Lord—good devil." Republicans, in common with all men and voters who love courage and consistency, will look upon the fellow and his sheet with contempt and act accordingly.

AT LAST.

After over a year of talk, postponement and talk, council has at last decided to go ahead with the improvement of Trentvale street, the only fairly level outlet to the north of the city. The grading is to be done at once and the improvement completed as far as the $6,000 on hand will take it. It is hoped to have the grading done this fall and the street ready for further improvement in the spring. Having gone so far, the people look to council to do what they have promised. Trentvale street has many advantages. Horses are not blown before they get out of town climbing the hills back of the city. When improved there will be a fine outlet with an easy grade as far as Cannon's Mills. Good roads, offering easy ingress and egress to the city will be an invaluable boon.

COURT DECISION.

An Interesting Opinion Handed Down at Lisbon This Morning.

LISBON, Oct. 26.—[Special]—The court delivered an interesting opinion this morning in the case of Benjamin A. McCloskey against Thomas Thomas and others. An action was brought against the heirs of Emily R. Thomas, of Unity township, to foreclose a mortgage. The heirs were made party to the case and a decree taken for the sale of the property. Then an administrator of the estate was appointed. He was made a party by the plaintiff, but was not given time to answer before the sale was made. On the application to confirm the sale he objected. Held by the court that the administrator was not a necessary party to the case, but that he was a proper party, and after having been made a party by the plaintiff should have been given time to answer. Not having this time the sale was set aside.

TOLEDO JONES.

He has been the recipient of great benefits from the Republican party. He has held fat office through the instrumentality of Republican ballots. He is now an ingrate, a kicker and a sore-head, and is being made use of as a tool by the Democratic party. Every vote cast for Jones is a helper to Democracy and a stab to Judge Nash and the Republican party. Bear this in mind, true Republicans, and vote for your party ticket.

TOO MUCH OF IT.

There has been altogether too much of what has been called "one man power" in municipal affairs. This thing of one member of council with a pull ordering changes made and work done by city employees on his own initiative has been a fertile cause of complaint from justly aggrieved property owners. Because a man is elected to council does not give him any greater authority as an individual than he had as a private citizen. City employees are not the personal attendants of members of council. Orders for changes to be made or work to be done should come from the council as a body, from a committee or some authorized official, and not from every Tom, Dick and Harry who wriggles

BORN EQUAL, BUT NOT FREE.

"Here is a curious error," said the schoolboy as he laid down his "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and turned to the encyclopedia. The author uses the expression, 'All men are born free and equal.'

"Well, what is the matter with that?" inquired the schoolboy's uncle.

"Why, the quotation should be, 'All men are born equal.' There is no 'free' in it."

"Do you mean to tell me that Jefferson did not write 'free and equal' in the Declaration?"

"That's what he didn't."

"I'll bet you—"

"Don't do it, uncle. Remember, you have a family to support, and they will need all your money. The word 'free' does not occur there. See?" And he placed the big book before his misguided relative.

"Oh, I know better! I will get a copy of the constitution in one of my old books. I have heard that quoted so often I know what I am talking about."

"You have heard it quoted wrong every time you heard the 'free' in it."

After they had found the good and reliable old book and all the rest of the authorities the uncle ungraciously gave up. But he hated to do so. It seems impossible to correct that wrong impression. The boy was right. Yet people will go on indefinitely making a "free" and inaccurate quotation.—Chicago Post.

THAT BADGE CANARD.

An Infamous Lie Manufactured by McLean's Organ.

CHAIRMAN DICK'S HOT REPLY.

Like the Scores of Other Fakes It Is Put Out to Obscure the Real Issues of the Campaign Which McLean and His Enquirer Are Afraid to Discuss.

Boss McLean's Cincinnati fake factory, which began a series of campaign fakes just after the Zanesville convention, every one of which has been a boomerang, reached the depths of newspaper infamy when it published a wild tale illustrated with a forged and fraudulent cut to the effect that the state Republican committee was sending out silk badges inscribed as follows:

Died,

ASA S. BUSHNELL,

In the

Hearts of All Loyal Republicans,

January 3, 1894.

An alleged fac simile of this badge was published with the article. The Enquirer said:

"Today these badges are being sent to every county in large consignments to Hanna's respective local bosses. The badges are of an expensive manufacture. They are, as before stated, of heavy white satin, and typographically artistic. The cost of their production to the committee is $25 per 1,000. Within the ensuing 10 days they doubtless will be seen on the lapels of Hanna pushers throughout the state."

This is a lie on the face of it. McLean's contempt for the intelligence of his readers could not be more apparent had he expressed it in direct words. The wonder of everyone connected with the Republican state organization is that McLean's peanut press bureau can not see the boomerang effect on its candidate of continuous malicious fabrications, which are flung back into McLean's face as a proved lie the day after their appearances.

Chairman Dick said in regard to the matter, when it was called to his attention: "The whole story is an infamous lie. If there is such a badge, it is manufactured by orders of McLean, for the purpose of creating discord among Republicans. The story is without a scintilla of foundation in fact, and is not even plausible."

"Mr. McLean's Enquirer is evidently afraid to discuss the issues of this campaign. It is resorting to these gross and absurd fakes in a vain attempt to obscure the real issues before the people and mislead voters, but it will not be successful."

From the beginning of the campaign the McLean press has been at work with its entire staff of fakirs in a tremendous effort to foment discord in the Republican party. Senator Foraker's splendid speech at Hamilton routed the McLeanites, but they afterward gathered as guerrillas and tried the Filipino tactics to accomplish what they could not do in the open. This latest story is only a little more bold and absurd than some of its predecessors, and INDICATES WHAT REPUBLICANS MAY EXPECT THE REMAINDER OF THE CAMPAIGN. EVERY IMAGINABLE FAKE AND LIE WILL BE USED IN A MAD AND DESPERATE EFFORT TO STAMPEDE VOTERS AND TO HIDE AND OBSCURE THE REAL ISSUES.

HAULING DOWN THE FLAG
McLean Now Advocates What He Condemned Cleveland For Doing.

Mr. McLean, in his Hamilton speech, advocated hauling down the American flag in the Philippines, where we have every right, national, international, legal and moral, to maintain it. There was a time, however, when he was very indignant because our flag was hauled down after it had been raised over Hawaii, although that island had not been ceded to us by treaty, ratified by the senate of the United States, as the Philippines have been.

On every possible occasion Mr. McLean's newspaper denounced Grover Cleveland for ordering Commissioner Blount to haul down the flag, which had been raised there under the Harrison administration, at the request of the provisional government at that place.

During the China-Japan trouble, there was some suggestion of Mr. Cleveland offering his good services to arbitrate the cause of the quarrel. In speaking of this proposition, The Enquirer said in an editorial Nov. 19, 1894:

"The offer of the administration to arbitrate is offensive, because it is the mapping out of a new foreign policy by a set of amateur diplomats that have made a mess of everything they have undertaken in the international line. The disgraceful attitude assumed by this government in the Hawaiian matter should be enough to discourage any further attempts on the part of Mr. Cleveland's establishment. This administration should be glad to have the fact that it ever had a foreign policy forgotten."

In a short editorial paragraph in The Enquirer of Jan. 12, 1895, Mr. McLean sarcastically said:

"Ex-Queen Lil should not be offended at the president of the United States. He is doing the best he can for her. He can't send Blount again to haul down the American flag, but he leaves no American to put it up if the British or Royalists haul it down."

Evidently Mr. McLean is in favor of hauling down the American flag in the Philippines simply to embarrass and oppose President McKinley and the Republican party in this hour when every patriot should rally to his support in the presence of the enemy. But Mr. McLean will find that the American people are patriotic to the core. Mr. McLean may shift when he thinks it to his political advantage, but the American people are patriotic all the time, and will rebuke at the polls the present unpatriotic attitude of the Democratic candidate for governor.

HE STANDS FIRM.

JUDGE SHEETS' STRONG PLATFORM ON TRUSTS.

Republican Candidate For Attorney General Will Enforce the Laws Without Fear or Favor For the Protection of the Whole People.

About one month ago the editor of a Columbus Democratic paper wrote a letter to Judge J. M. Sheets, Republican candidate for attorney general, requesting him to make a statement of his position on the question of trusts for publication.

Judge Sheets, on receipt of the letter, immediately wrote the following reply:

Ottawa, O., Sept. 12.

Dear Sir—On my return home I found awaiting me your letter requesting a statement as to my position on trusts. I have already stated for publication that I am in hearty accord with the principles and platform of the Republican party on that subject, and if called upon to discharge the duties of the office of attorney general I shall, to the best of my ability, see that all laws on the subject are faithfully enforced.

If, then, you will read the Republican platform and take the trouble to acquaint yourself with the fact that all anti-trust legislation in Ohio and in the rest of the nation has emanated from Republican sources, and that the Republican party is a party of principle and fulfills its promises, and that I am in hearty accord with the principles and platform of my party, you will be fully advised as to what I shall do if called to perform the duties of an attorney general. Respectfully,

J. M. SHEETS.

The editor pigeon-holed until recently, when he hunted it up and placed it in his box of speeches and carried it to Coshocton, where he addressed a small crowd of Democrats. When he reached the subject of trusts he took out Judge Sheets' letter, and according to the report in Mr. McLean's Enquirer, read the following garbled version of it:

Dear Sir—I have already stated for publication that I am in hearty accord with the principles and platform of the Republican party, and if called upon to discharge the duties of the office of attorney general, I shall, to the best of my ability, see that all laws on the trust subject are faithfully enforced. If you will read the Republican platform you will be fully advised of what I shall do if called upon to perform the duties of that office. Respectfully,

J. M. SHEETS.

The question naturally arises, why did Mr. McLean's Enquirer suppress that portion of Judge Sheets' letter which asserted that the Republican party had enacted all anti-trust legislation? The answer is evident. Judge Sheets' statement was too true to be available for the McLean Cincinnati bureau, and therefore unavailable for publication in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

It is needless to say that the methods of McLean's newspaper managers are treated with contempt by the reputable Democratic and Republican newspaper men of the country.

The people in northwestern Ohio, where Judge Sheets is personally known to everybody, do not ask questions as to his intentions. He has told them he will see to it that the laws are enforced. In 1893 they elected him judge of the judicial subdivision embracing Putnam, Henry and Fulton counties, and gave him a plurality of over 1,700 when the same counties gave 500 plurality for the general Democratic ticket. He served for five years with such general satisfaction that he came within 30 votes of re-election when his subdivision gave the rest of the Democratic ticket 2,088 plurality. The contemptible practices of McLean's newspaper bureau will not affect the candidacy of a man with a record like that of Judge Sheets.

DONT! WOMEN.

Don't write to a woman, when the roof leaks. Write to a carpenter. Don't write to a woman when the water pipe bursts. Write to a plumber. Don't write to a woman when you are sick, write to a doctor. But why such superfluous advice? Simply to call attention to the fact that "women" who are not qualified physicians offer medical advice, in advertisements worded in such a deceptive manner that you are apt to overlook the important fact that the woman is not a physician.

The great success of Dr. R. V. Pierce, in treating and curing diseases of women has led to imitations of his methods, especially his offer of a free consultation by letter to all sick women. At the head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., and with an experience of over thirty years, Dr. Pierce has achieved the position of the chief of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases. There is no living physician, male or female, who can show an equal record of over half-a-million women treated and ninety-eight per cent. of cures. Write to the doctor. Your letter will be read in private, answered in private and its statements held as sacredly confidential. To assure the exclusion of a third party from this correspondence, every letter is sent sealed in a plain envelope, bearing no advertising or printing upon it. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

POLITICS OF DEWEY.

President McKinley's Friendship Sent Him to Asia.

FACTS FROM HIS OWN LETTERS.

His Approval of Depew's Oration Shows His Strong Belief in the Principles of the Republican Party in the Election of 1896.

It is an erroneous idea that Admiral Dewey made objections to taking command of the Asiatic squadron. Like much other Democratic gossip which seeks to make it appear that President McKinley and Dewey are not in harmony, it is false. As a matter of fact, Dewey desired it very much. This is shown conclusively in the letters addressed to his sister, Mrs. Mary P. Greeley of Montpelier, Vt., published in Mr. Halstead's biography of Admiral Dewey, pages 395-6-7. He wrote:

"Washington, July 27, 1897.

"It is possible that I may go to sea about Christmas, as there will be vacancy of the command of the Asiatic station at that time, and since another admiral has been ordered to the Pacific I hope to get what I desire."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 10, 1896. No orders to sea for me yet, and probably none will come before spring, unless we have a brush with Spain, which is not unlikely."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 1, 1897. Yes, I am to be congratulated, as I have received what is, to me, the best gift the president could make. I leave here about the 27th of this month, and sail from San Francisco by steamer of 7th of December."

"Expect to join my flagship Olympia at Yokohama about Christmas. I go out as commodore, and do not receive my promotion to rear admiral until next summer, a new rule to that effect having been made."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 1, 1897. It will be noted that Admiral Dewey in his letter of Nov. 1st, 1897, refers to the Asiatic station as "WHAT IS, TO ME, THE BEST GIFT THE PRESIDENT COULD MAKE."

This best gift the president could make was the president's personally written order to the secretary of the navy to place Commodore George Dewey in command of the Asiatic squadron, written out in the president's own hand overruling the determination of the navy department to make another appointment. This is a circumstance that Admiral Dewey has not forgotten, for since his homecoming he has repeatedly spoken of it in the warmest terms.

A great deal has been said about the political principles of Admiral Dewey. He has been reticent in their expression, as is the habit of the officers of the army and navy. But we have a clear view of his ideas, in his indorsement of the speech made at Montpelier, Vt., in 1896, by the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, now senator of the United States for the state of New York.

The admiral addressed this letter to his sister, Mrs. Greeley:

"Washington, Nov. 30, 1896. The address of Mr. Depew on our dear old state is most interesting, and I shall retain it for further reading. I feel quite proud to belong to such a grand old commonwealth."

The first part of Mr. Depew's speech referred to the heroes of the Green Mountain state, and he divided the history of Vermont and the country into three historical periods, the third period which was reconstruction after war touched in Depew's stanchant style on the great political issues of the campaign of 1896. It was this portion which was warmly approved by the admiral. The following paragraph shows the strong Republican tone of it.

"The opportunities for independence were equally open to all under equal laws, and with every man equal before the law. But without our scarcely knowing, and certainly not recognizing its extent, and the possibility of concentrating it as a political force, discontent had seized upon the people as never before. It assumed again the form of an assault upon the time-hon-

Any effort to array the people into classes, when employers and employees are constantly changing places, is not American. An assault upon the independence of the judiciary is not American. American liberty is the liberty of law and order; American government is government by the people under universal suffrage. They make their own laws and the genius of our institutions is that those laws thus made by the people themselves will be obeyed by the power which makes them."

GOVERNMENT OF SAMOA
Likely to Remain Tripartite as Germany and England Can't Agree.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The state department is without late official advices from Samoa, respecting the existence of fresh troubles among the natives on the islands, but it is believed that these latest reported events are not really threatening in character.

Negotiations have produced no satisfactory plan to replace the present system of government. The United States has an accurate idea of what it wants and it is believed that these wants are not obnoxious either to Germany or Great Britain, but these nations can't agree.

The indications are that the three governments must content themselves for some time to come with an administration of affairs in Samoa under the terms of the Berlin treaty, with some slight modifications in the direction suggested in the report of the Samoan commission. It is now settled that Chief Justice Chambers will not return to Apia, one he will be provided for in a manner which will demonstrate the satisfaction of the president with his course.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. ## POLITICS OF DEWEY.

President McKinley's Friendship Sent Him to Asia.

FACTS FROM HIS OWN LETTERS.

His Approval of Dewey's Oration Shows His Strong Belief in the Principles of the Republican Party in the Election of 1896.

It is an erroneous idea that Admiral Dewey made objections to taking command of the Asiatic squadron. Like much other Democratic gossip which seeks to make it appear that President McKinley and Dewey are not in harmony, it is false. As a matter of fact, Dewey desired it very much. This is shown conclusively in the letters addressed to his sister, Mrs. Mary P. Greeley of Montpelier, Vt., published in Mr. Halstead's biography of Admiral Dewey, pages 395-6-7. He wrote:

"Washington, July 27, 1897.

"It is possible that I may go to sea about Christmas, as there will be vacancy of the command of the Asiatic station at that time, and since another admiral has been ordered to the Pacific I hope to get what I desire."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 10, 1896.

"No orders to sea for me yet, and probably none will come before spring, unless we have a brush with Spain, which is not unlikely."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 1, 1897.

"Yes, I am to be congratulated, as I have received what is, to me, the best gift the president could make. I leave here about the 27th of this month, and sail from San Francisco by steamer of 7th of December.

"Expect to join my flagship Olympia at Yokohama about Christmas. I go out as commodore, and do not receive my promotion to rear admiral until next summer, a new rule to that effect having been made."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

It will be noted that Admiral Dewey in his letter of Nov. 1st, 1897, refers to the Asiatic station as "WHAT IS, TO ME, THE BEST GIFT THE PRESIDENT COULD MAKE."

This best gift the president could make was the president's personally written order to the secretary of the navy to place Commodore George Dewey in command of the Asiatic squadron, written out in the president's own hand overruling the determination of the navy department to make another appointment. This is a circumstance that Admiral Dewey has not forgotten, for since his homecoming he has repeatedly spoken of it in the warmest terms.

A great deal has been said about the political principles of Admiral Dewey. He has been reticent in their expression, as is the habit of the officers of the army and navy. But we have a clear view of his ideas, in his endorsement of the speech made at Montpelier, Vt., in 1896, by the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, now senator of the United States for the state of New York.

The admiral addressed this letter to his sister, Mrs. Greeley:

"Washington, Nov. 30, 1896.

"The address of Mr. Depew on our dear old state is most interesting, and I shall retain it for further reading. I feel quite proud to belong to such a grand old commonwealth."

The first part of Mr. Depew's speech referred to the heroes of the Green Mountain state and he divided the history of Vermont and the country into three historical periods, the third period which was reconstruction after war touched in Depew's trenchant style on the great political issues of the campaign of 1896. It was this portion which was warmly approved by the admiral. The following paragraph shows the strong Republican tone of it.

"The opportunities for independence were equally open to all under equal laws, and with every man equal before the law. But without our scarcely knowing, and certainly not recognizing its extent, and the possibility of concentrating it as a political force, discontent had seized upon the people as never before. It assumed again the form of an assault upon the time-honored and revolutionary principles of American liberty. As we enter upon the fourth period, we should remember that a shifting standard of value is not American. A paternal government is not American. Any effort to array the people into classes, when employers and employees are constantly changing places, is not American. An assault upon the independence of the judiciary is not American. American liberty is the liberty of law and order; American government is government by the people under universal suffrage. They make their own laws and the genius of our institutions is that those laws thus made by the people themselves will be obeyed by the power which makes them."

GOVERNMENT OF SAMOA

Likely to Remain Tripartite as Germany and England Can't Agree.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The state department is without late official advices from Samoa, respecting the existence of fresh troubles among the natives on the islands, but it is believed that these latest reported events are not really threatening in character.

Negotiations have produced no satisfactory plan to replace the present system of government. The United States has an accurate idea of what it wants and it is believed that these wants are not obnoxious either to Germany or Great Britain, but these nations can't agree.

The indications are that the three governments must content themselves for some time to come with an administration of affairs in Samoa under the terms of the Berlin treaty, with some slight modifications in the direction suggested in the report of the Samoan commission. It is now settled that Chief Justice Chambers will not return to Apia, but he will be provided for in a manner which will demonstrate the satisfaction of the president with his course.

TO THANK PROVIDENCE.

President McKinley Appoints Nov. 30 as a National Day of Thanksgiving.
His Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The president issued the following thanksgiving proclamation:

A national custom dear to the hearts of the people calls for the setting apart of one day in each year as an occasion of special thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of the preceding year. This honored observance acquires with time a tenderer significance. It enriches domestic life. It summons under the family roof the absent children to glad reunion with those they love.

Seldom has this nation had greater cause for profound thanksgiving. No great pestilence has invaded our shores. Liberal employment waits upon labor. Abundant crops have rewarded the efforts of the husbandman. Increased comforts have come to the home.

The national finances have been strengthened, and public credit has been sustained and made firmer. In all branches of industry and trade there has been an unequalled degree of prosperity, while there has been a steady gain in the moral and educational growth of our national character. Churches and schools have flourished. American patriotism has been exalted. Those engaged in maintaining the honor of the flag with such signal success have been in a large degree spared from disaster and disease.

An honorable peace has been ratified with a foreign nation with which we were at war, and we are now on friendly relations with every power on earth.

The trust which we have assumed for the benefit of the people of Cuba has been faithfully advanced. There is marked progress toward the restoration of healthy industrial conditions, and under wise sanitary regulations the island has enjoyed unusual exemption from the scourge of fever. The hurricane which swept over our new possession of Porto Rico, destroying the homes and property of the inhabitants, called forth the instant sympathy of the people of the United States, who were swift to respond with generous aid to the sufferers.

While the insurrection still continues in the island of Luzon, business is resuming its activity and confidence in the good purposes of the United States is being rapidly established throughout the archipelago.

For these reasons and countless others, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby name Thursday, the 30th day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed as such by all our people on this continent and in our newly acquired islands as well as by those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands; and I advise that on this day religious exercises shall be conducted in the churches or meeting places of all denominations in order that in the social features of the day its real significance may not be lost sight of, but fervent prayers may be offered to the most high for a continuance of the divine guidance, without which man's efforts are vain, and for divine consolation to those whose kindred and friends have sacrificed their lives for country.

I recommend also that this day so far as may be found practicable labor shall cease from its accustomed toil and charity abound toward the sick, the needy and the poor.

In witness thereof I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

ASKS FOR PROSECUTIONS.

National Civil Service Reform League
Writes to Commission About
the Ohio Matter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A statement was given out by George McAneny, secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, in which he said:

"The National Civil Service Reform League has addressed a letter to the civil service commission, asking that steps be taken to secure the prosecution of the federal officers and others responsible for the action of the Ohio Republican state committee in sending appeals for political contributions to government employees throughout the country. The chairman of the committee in question is Congressman Charles Dick of the Nineteenth Ohio district."

In this letter to the civil service commission it alleged that the letters to government employes were printed on letter heads of the "finance committee of the Ohio state executive committee," and it is pointed out that these letters explicitly stated that the money solicited is to be applied to the uses of the full committee, of which Mr. Dick is chairman.

It is alleged further that the circular had been sent to thousands of government subordinates in all parts of the country, including even clerks and other minor employes in the New York custom house.

Dewey's Home Turned Over to Him.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The house on Rhode Island avenue, recently purchased for Admiral Dewey by popular subscription, was formally turned over to him by Assistant Secretary Vanderbilt and United States Treasurer Roberts of the Dewey home fund committee. The purchase price was about $50,000. Two subscriptions were received which completed the payment, including the expenses incident to the project. One for $1,000 came from Brooklyn, and the other, $275, was received from the Western Union Telegraph company.

Students Threatened With Suspension.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 26.—The members of the freshman class of Franklin and Marshall college were notified that the entire class would be suspended if they did not pay the bill for expenses incurred in repairing damage done by them during a recent skyarking, in which they painted prominent city buildings with legends deriding the sophomores. The stonework on the college buildings had to be redressed to efface the paint. The students were given until Saturday.

The One Voted Him by New Jersey Legislature Presented.

TRENTON, Oct. 26.—Admiral Sampson

was presented with a sword by Governor Vorhees, on behalf of the state of New Jersey, as a mark of appreciation of his services during the Spanish war. The presentation took place in the assembly chamber of the capitol in the presence of a distinguished audience of naval officers and persons prominent in the public and social life of the state. The naval officers present included nearly all those associated with Admiral Sampson before the entrance to Santiago harbor.

Among those present were Rear Admiral Melville, Captains Chadwick of the New York, Taylor of the Indiana, Philip of the Texas, Clarke of the Oregon, Sands of the Columbia, Bronson of the Yankee, Train of the Prairie, Folger of the Kearsarge, Delehanty of the Pawnee and Lieutenant Commander Winslow, the admiral's flag lieutenant. Admiral Sampson, accompanied by his wife, arrived here and, after breakfast, the party was driven to the Industrial School For Girls, where the admiral was presented with a flag. He made a short address to the pupils.

The formal presentation ceremonies took place later in the day. Senator Ketcham, chairman of the joint legislative committee, addressed the admiral and read the resolution of the legislature providing for the presentation by the state of a sword to him.

Governor Voorhees made the formal presentation, to which the admiral replied.

During the firing of a salute in honor of the admiral Walter English of the Garfield company, Sons of Veterans, had both hands blown off by the premature discharge of a cannon he was loading.

The governor of Washington, it is said, would not have given the fugitive up had the prisoner objected, but he came willingly.

HON. W. T. WILLEY III.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 26.—The condition of the venerable ex-senator, William T. Willey, of this place, is seriously alarming his friends. He has not been the same since the death of Governor Pierpont of Pittsburg, which took away the last of his peers.

Writes to Commission About
the Ohio Matter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A statement was given out by George McAneny, secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, in which he said:

"The National Civil Service Reform League has addressed a letter to the civil service commission, asking that steps be taken to secure the prosecution of the federal officers and others responsible for the action of the Ohio Republican state committee in sending appeals for political contributions to government employees throughout the country. The chairman of the committee in question is Congressman Charles Dick of the Nineteenth Ohio district."

In this letter to the civil service commission it alleged that the letters to government employes were printed on letter heads of the "finance committee of the Ohio state executive committee," and it is pointed out that these letters explicitly stated that the money solicited is to be applied to the uses of the full committee, of which Mr. Dick is chairman.

It is alleged further that the circular had been sent to thousands of government subordinates in all parts of the country, including even clerks and other minor employes in the New York custom house.

TO THANK PROVIDENCE.

President McKinley Appoints Nov. 30 as a National Day of Thanksgiving.
His Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The president issued the following thanksgiving proclamation:

A national custom dear to the hearts of the people calls for the setting apart of one day in each year as an occasion of special thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of the preceding year. This honored observance acquires with time a tenderer significance. It enriches domestic life. It summons under the family roof the absent children to glad reunion with those they love.

Seldon has this nation had greater cause for profound thanksgiving. No great pestilence has invaded our shores. Liberal employment waits upon labor. Abundant crops have rewarded the efforts of the husbandman. Increased comforts have come to the home.

The national finances have been strengthened, and public credit has been sustained and made firmer. In all branches of industry and trade there has been an unequalled degree of prosperity, while there has been a steady gain in the moral and educational growth of our national character. Churches and schools have flourished. American patriotism has been exalted. Those engaged in maintaining the honor of the flag with such signal success have been in a large degree spared from disaster and disease. An honorable peace has been ratified with foreign nations with which we were at war, and we are now on friendly relations with every power on earth.

The trust which we have assumed for the benefit of the people of Cuba has been faithfully advanced. There is marked progress toward the restoration of healthy industrial conditions, and under wise sanitary regulations the island has enjoyed unusual exemption from the scourge of fever. The hurricane which swept over our new possession of Porto Rico, destroying the homes and property of the inhabitants, called forth the instant sympathy of the people of the United States, who were swift to respond with generous aid to the sufferers.

While the insurrection still continues in the island of Luzon, business is resuming its activity and confidence in the good purposes of the United States is being rapidly established throughout the archipelago.

For these reasons and countless others, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby name Thursday, the 30th day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed as such by all our people on this continent and in our newly acquired islands as well as by those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands; and I advise that on this day religious exercises shall be conducted in the churches or meeting places of all denominations in order that in the social features of the day its real significance may not be lost sight of, but fervent prayers may be offered to the most high for a continuance of the divine guidance, without which man's efforts are vain, and for divine consolation to those whose kindred and friends have sacrificed their lives for country.

I recommend also that this day so far as may be found practicable labor shall cease from its accustomed toil and charity abound toward the sick, the needy and the poor.

In witness thereof I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

BRITISH PUBLIC IN THE DARK.

Due to War Office "Cooking" Dispatches. Certain Junction of Forces Has Occurred—Joubert Likely to Attack Lady-smith Before Buller Arrives.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—An ominous veil was drawn over the movements of General Sir George Stewart White and General Yule in Natal. Beyond belated Ladysmith dispatches concerning the Elandsbaat fight, which are still filtering in, the British public is left in complete darkness and to conjecture over "cooked" war office dispatches.

Since it is practically certain that General Yule has effected a junction with General White, and as both are now in a position of safety, conjecture concerns itself chiefly with the manner of General Yule's retreat. That it was hasty is evident. Was it disorderly? Was any considerable camp equipment abandoned? Was there any fighting on the way? Such questions and others like them the public is anxiously asking. Since the receipt of General White's curious first description of the Ladysmith fight, in which the British lost 100 men, little reliance can be placed on the official dispatches. While the concealment of the facts regarding General Yule's retreat can be amply justified on the ground of keeping the intelligence from the Boers the hiding of the news respecting the Hussars and Fusiliers, who were apparently captured in the battle at Glencoe, is severely criticised, no intimation even having been given that the officers were missing.

The war office made public the following dispatch, in part, sent by General White from Ladysmith:

"The advance guard of the forces sent out by me to get in touch with and help General Yule's column was within three miles of that column, which had temporarily halted at Sunday river."

"I have occupied all the strong positions on the road and have no further anxiety about them. I have received from Kenrick, signalling officer of the queen's own regiment, who has ridden in, and also from Colonel Dartnell of the national police, who accompanied the column, the best account of the spirits and efficiency of the troops, who are very anxious to meet the enemy again."

The war office issued the following in part: "There is nothing to add to General White's description of that engagement, as given in his dispatch, except that we now learn the following casualties:

"First Gloucester:
"Colonel Wilford, killed.
"Wounded:
"Lieutenant Hickie.

"Second battery, field artillery:
"Lieutenant Douglas.
"Fifty-third battery, field artillery:
"Major Abby.

"Lieutenant Perreau.
"Lieutenant Hobart.
"Nineteenth Hussars:
"Lieutenant Holford.

"The following casualties occurred among the non-commissioned officers and men:

"Nineteenth Hussars:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 2.
"Fifth Lancers:
"Wounded, 1.
"Artillery, wounded, 5.
"First Devonshire regiment:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 5.
"First Gloucester regiment:
"Killed, 7; wounded, 52; missing, 3.
"Natal volunteers, Carineers:
"Killed, 1; wounded, 10.
"Natal mounted rifles:
"Wounded, 2.
"Border mounted rifles:
"Killed, 2; wounded, 10.
"The total number of casualties as corrected is: Killed, 18; wounded, 93; missing, 3.

"We learn from unofficial sources that the following officers, whose absence had not previously been notified to us, are prisoners in the enemy's hands:

"Eighteenth Hussars — Lieutenant Colonel Moller, Major Greville and Captain Pollock. Dublin Fusiliers—Captain Lonsdale, Lieutenant Le Meseurier, Lieutenant Garvice, Lieutenant Grimshaw, Lieutenant Majendie and Lieutenant Shore.

"It is presumed that the whole squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars, under the command of the officers named, were taken prisoners."

The heavy losses of the British troops in facing only some 8,000 Boers was commented upon as what rifle fire means in the hands of even undisciplined men who can shoot fairly straight and stand their ground. Comparisons are made with the first employment of the magazine rifle in the Hispano-American war, and it is considered that the American losses at El Caney and San Juan would have been much heavier if the Spaniards had doggedly stood their ground like the Boers.

General Sir Redvers Buller is expected to arrive at the Cape early next week, and the indications are that some troops have already arrived at the front and been in the fighting whose arrival has not yet been announced. There is every probability, therefore, that reinforcements are moving up. This is calculated to hasten Commandant General Joubert's attack on Ladysmith, and news of a big battle is daily expected.

About half a complete army corps is now afloat, and a full occurred in dispatching the remainder of General Buller's forces owing to some difficulty in obtaining transports. The mobilization and embarkation of 21,000 men, however, have proceeded with the utmost smoothness and completeness, extorting admiration from the severest critics of war office organization.

Although news has arrived that General Sir William Penn Symons is doing well, there is no indications as to his whereabouts. It was presumed that he is at Dundee in the hands of the Boers.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Ladysmith, dated Monday, said:

"Thirty of the Eighteenth Hussars, who were sent from Glencoe to intercept the retreat of the Boers from Elandsbaat, were cut off by the enemy. Under Sergeant Baldrey they brilliantly fought their way across the Biggarsberg, the enemy pursuing and firing at them at a range of 300 yards along the passes. They arrived here about 10 o'clock this morning. Three of the troopers are missing owing to the breakdown of their horses. The Boers used a Maxim. A lieutenant of the Hussars with a party was driven back to Glencoe. The Hussars were fired at as far down as Modder Spruit."

Denial as to Wildman.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Assistant Secretary of State Hill, who has charge of the consular service, when shown the report from Portland, Or., that Consul Wildman, at Hongkong, will be superseded by Dr. Bedloe, authorized the positive statement that Dr. Bedloe will not succeed Consul Wildman; that Consul Wildman had not been detached, nor was such action under contemplation. The case of Dr. Bedloe was still under advisement.

Chappelle Again Saw Root.

TO WATCH ENGLAND

European Fleets Likely to Be Mobilized.

NAVAL ACTIVITY IN BRITAIN.

Cruisers Being Gotten Ready and Reserves Ordered — France, Italy, Germany and Russia Said to Be Aroused. Beresford to Command.

BERLIN, Oct. 26.—There is talk in diplomatic circles of the joint conference which was held between the emperor, Admiral Tirpitz, the secretary of the admiralty, and Count Von Buelow, the minister of foreign affairs.

The admiral, the next day, went to Baden-Baden for the purpose of reporting to the imperial chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe.

The Freisinnige Zeitung asserted that both the conference and the trip of Tirpitz signify that orders will soon be given for the sending of German war vessels to the Mediterranean.

It is not doubted in Berlin that further aggression on the part of England in Africa will precipitate an international war.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Dispatches from the continent to The Daily News says that the French fleet has received instructions to watch the movements of the British Mediterranean squadron, and that the Italian fleet is under orders to concentrate in the Bay of Spezia.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—British naval preparations caused a strong reiteration of serious foreign complications. It was said that Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford will command the Mediterranean squadron, and details of the activity at the dockyards and naval stations came in hot and fast. It was learned, however, that whether or no Great Britain seriously fears Russian or French aggression, the naval preparations have been under consideration for several months and it was the admiral's intention to put them in force as soon as war with the Transvaal was declared, deeming it necessary to increase the active strength of the navy in order to insure the large fleet of transports against every possible contingency.

The naval reserves have been ordered to be in readiness to rejoin their ships at 24 hours' notice, while all the cruisers of the reserve class have been notified to be ready to sail in the same time limit.

In addition to these preparations work on the uncompleted vessels is being hurried day and night. The special attention being paid to the cruisers is taken by many naval authorities to indicate that Great Britain intends to form a menacing flying squadron, using the term "menacing" because the naval force at sea now is ample to convey the transports and is thoroughly capable of preventing any interference in South African waters.

While the British officials did not conceal their knowledge of German, French and Russian antagonism and their irritation therat, they do not give the slightest hint that European hostility will crystallize into any probable overt act.

The belief that Great Britain is on the verge of a crisis or even a conflict far greater than that in the Transvaal has many supporters, though the lack of all official confirmation favors the conservative views that the remarkable military and naval activity is due to a desire to take thorough precautions, which, though ominous, have at present no special bearing upon Great Britain's European relations.

Advices from the continent strengthen this view. For instance, The Freimdenblatt of Vienna said: "Nothing points to the eventuality of the intervention of Europe in favor of the Boers."

The paper added that Germany especially has resolved "not to depart from her attitude of neutrality."

On the other hand the Neues Weiner-Tagblatt published a telegram from the Transvaal legation at Brussels announcing that Dr. Leyds had received formal assurances that France and Russia will not permit Great Britain to annex the Transvaal or the Orange Free State.

This is discredited, however, as it is pointed out that even if this were the intention of the powers mentioned they would not allow their hands to be shown prematurely through the medium of Dr. Leyds.

The Russian newspapers may be somewhat responsible for the impression in regard to European intervention, the St. Petersburg Russkaja advocating that Great Britain be brought to her senses by a naval demonstration in South Africa in which France would take the lead.

DAVITT QUITS PARLIAMENT

Announced He Would Leave Today as Protest Against War Against Boers—Chamberlain's Reply.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—Michael Davitt, Irish Nationalist member for South Mayo, announced in the house of commons that he would resign today as a protest against the Boer war.

Regarding Mr. Davitt, Mr. Chamberlain, in the house of commons, said he recognized that he had hitherto discussed the matter moderately and sincerely, "and," he added, "I would pay the greatest attention to his arguments if I did not know he would use precisely the same arguments in regard to any British war, which are based on his enmity to England."

Mr. Chamberlain then said:

"What would have been the Irish argument in the Spanish-American war, in which Spain showed herself infinitely less capable of defending herself than the Transvaal—"

Here William Redmond, Parnellite member for East Clare, shouted:

"The Transvaal did not blow up your warships."

Mr. Chamberlain continued: "The great, almost determining contest between the United States and Spain was fought without the loss of a single American. We have never denied that the Transvaal was a foeman worthy of our steel. Not only was the disparity between the forces in the Spanish-American war as great as those now engaged, but the contention of the United States and their right of interference arose from the fact that at some distance from their territories there was oppression, not of American citizens, but of another race of people, and that justified the intervention of the United States in the mind of the civilized world, or, at any rate, in the eyes of Englishmen and Irishmen. But we are interfering in behalf of our own people. It is perfectly certain that Mr. Davitt but for his hatred of England would sympathize with us as he did with America."

BRITISH CASUALTIES.

War Office Put Number of Dead and Wounded at 597, Not Including Missing Hussars.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—The war office returns show that the total British casualties since the beginning of hostilities reach 597, 18 officers having been killed and 55 wounded, and 76 men killed and 450 wounded. There are 13 unaccounted for.

This total, however, does not include the squadron of the Eighteenth Hussars which went astray near Dundee, and the officers of the Dublin fusiliers.

The report of heavy losses sent from Rietfontein came as an unpleasant surprise, as General White's telegram to the war office gave the impression that there was merely a brush.

GENERAL SYMONS DOING WELL.

The Bullet Extracted and He Was Reported as Cheerful.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 26.—Intelligence received here from Natal said the bullet had been extracted from the wound of General Symons, who was struck down while leading his troops at the battle of Glencoe, and that the patient was cheerful and doing well.

Advices from Orange river, Cape Colony, near the Orange Free State border, announced that the Boers had taken Kripdam, near Barkly West, north of Kimberley, and that Assistant Magistrate Harmsworth and his clerk are prisoners. It was supposed that the Boers were advancing on Douglas, farther west, the inhabitants of which place were asking for protection.

Banker Henry Died Suddenly.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Frank L. Henry, a well-known banker, died suddenly at the Racquet club of apoplexy, aged 40. Mr. Henry was apparently in the very best of health when he went to the club.

Denby Saw the President.

FAITHFUL IN LOVE

Austrian Crown Princess to Marry Count Lonyai.

LEOPOLD INTERFERED IN VAIN.

The King of Belgium Tried to Induce His Daughter to Give Up Her Lover, but She Refused—He Threatened to Disinherit Her.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 26.—King Leopold, after having done all in his power to prevent the coming marriage of his daughter, the Crown Princess Stephanie of Austria to Count Lonyai, threatens to deprive her in future of the annual allowance which both she and her sister have until now received from him.

The king has been out of humor ever since he learned that the crown princess had resolved to contract a morganatic marriage. The combined efforts of the Belgium and Austrian courts to break off the betrothal have proven in vain.

By marrying Count Lonyai the crown princess will not only lose her father's favor, but she will also be deprived of the important position which she holds in the Austrian empire.

RUSSIAN NAVAL SCANDAL.

Number of Officers Arrested on Admiral Tyrtoff's Charges.

ODESSA, Oct. 26.—At Sevastopol, 43 government officials have been arrested and will be tried by court-martial Dec. 2.

Among the accused are many high naval officers, including the former senior port officer, Commander Relitsky, several well-known contractors, nearly every chief engineer of the ships in Russia's Black sea fleet, the commissary officers and others. It was reported that several of the accused have committed suicide rather than stand trial for, if found guilty, they would be banished to Siberia.

Vice Admiral Tyrtoff, the Russian naval commander in the Black sea, was responsible for the arrests. He alleged that the officials of the various government departments from Sevastopol to Nikolaev have for a long time been engaged in a huge conspiracy to misappropriate funds and sell government supplies, covering their defalcations by forgery and suppressing information by widely distributed bribes.

FUNERAL OF CAPTAIN HOWARD.

Insurgents Return to Calamba and Are Surrounding the Town.

MANILA, Oct. 26.—The funeral of Captain Guy Howard, son of General O. O. Howard, who was killed near Arayat, Sunday, was held and was attended by a large number of officers and men. After the exercises the body was escorted by troops to the transport Belgian King.

The Twenty-sixth infantry arrived here on the transport Grant and sailed for Iloilo without disembarking.

The insurgents have returned to the vicinity of Calamba. They have increased in numbers and are surrounding the town on the land sides.

At San Isidro about 30 hours' rain raised the river, and supplies are arriving there in the cascos of the natives. The health of the returning columns is excellent.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 26.—Bishop Doane of Albany, in his address before the Protestant Episcopal missionary council, in session here, supported the policy of the administration in taking the Philippines under national protection.

THE EAST END.

TO BUILD NEW OUTLETS

An Improvement Will Be Made on River Avenue.

STARTING OF LAUGHLIN POTTERY

Will Hardly Occur Before December--Rumors of a Meeting of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson Company--First Kiln of Green Saggars Burned Today.

Next week Robert Finley, of East End, will commence the work of constructing new outlets to the four sewers and other drains on River avenue. Attention was called by council at its last meeting relative to this matter. The outlets of sewers emptying into the river along this street are not in need of repairing so much as the places where the water has gone over the banks and caused many deep cuts. There are several instances where the heavy rains of the past summer did much damage in this respect. Near the McKinnon residence on River avenue a bad washout was caused because of no drain. Another washout of similar character occurred at the foot of Ohio and River avenues. It will require about a week to complete the work.

IN DECEMBER.

Not Likely Laughlin's Will Commence Operations Before That Time.

Manager Harker has found it to be impossible to commence the making of ware at the new Laughlin pottery by the first of November but is of the opinion that everything will be in readiness by December 1. Today the first kiln of green saggars was fired and others fires will be lit within the next few days. The last bands are now being placed on the biscuit kilns, and the finishing work is being done to the glaze kilns. The mould makers have done much work since they have started and are now making moulds for the colonial dinner set. Everything is being done by the company to make the pottery the most complete of any in the city.

WILL MEET.

Rumors of a Stockholders' Meeting of the K., T. & A. Co.

There was a rumor afloat in East End yesterday that a meeting of stockholders of the Knowles, Taylor & Anderson sewerpipe company would be held soon. A call was made at the office of the company during the afternoon, but that place was locked.

Motormen Will Meet.

The regular meeting of the street car motormen is scheduled for next Saturday night. It is understood that matters pertaining to the reducing of the working hours of the conductors will be discussed.

The Fire Is Out.

The fire that had been burning on the hills in Dry Run for several days has been put out at last. It was one of the worst fires of that character in the East End district for years.

To Start Next Monday.

After a 10 days' shut down on account of a break in the machinery the East End brick works will resume operations next Monday. The necessary repairs are now being made.

Clay For the Schools.

The Salem China company has donated a barrel of clay to the public schools. It is to be used by the lower grades for modeling cubes and other figures.—Salem Herald.

SOME DOMESTIC TROUBLE.

Is Being Aired Today In the Irondale Courts--Parties Are Known Here.

Yesterday Marshal Starkey, of Irondale, was in the city and arrested Mrs. James Robinson upon a charge of deserting her children. The charge was preferred by her husband, and the case will be heard in Irondale today. A number of East End and Wellsville witnesses have been subpoenaed. According to the story told by Constable Thorne, of Wellsville, the trouble dates back for quite a time. He says Robinson cleared his wife out of the house and she did not go back. Robinson then went to Irondale, taking the children with him, and was living with another woman. The Irondale authorities had him arrested and he was fined. He then sent for his wife and she refused to go to him, and that is the reason the case was entered against her.

GROCERY CLERKS

Engage In a Dispute With the Teamsters' Union--Matter Will Be Settled.

The Retail Grocery and Provision Clerk's union at a special meeting voted on one new member. The meeting was called for the purpose of settling a dispute between the local and the teamsters' union in regard to some members who had joined the teamsters' union by mistake. A committee has been appointed from each union and the matter will be amicably adjusted.

THE CHELSEA.

A Company Will Try to Purchase the New Cumberland Pottery.

The Chelsea pottery at New Cumberland is still idle, the last attempt to purchase it being made by parties from this city. It is understood that a company is being formed to make an attempt to purchase the plant, but if they are not successful their names will never be given to the public. Thomas Price, of the Toronto pottery, says the Chelsea is the best plant ever built in this section.

SMALL FIRE.

A Store House of Harvey Thompson Damaged Last Night.

The fire department was called out at 6 o'clock last evening, caused by a store house on the lot owned by Harvey Thompson on Lincoln avenue being on fire. The roof was burned, also several carpets and some furniture which was in the building. The damage was slight.

Football Notes.

The Entre Nous football team practiced last evening on the Croxall lot, but were bothered considerably by the small boys. The eleven is making arrangements for a game here and may play the Mt. Hope college club.

A HEAD of the procession are the Oxford Folding Beds. They are less than half the weight of the ordinary style upright beds. A six-year-old child can operate them. Fixtures are made of malleable iron, brass plated, and will not break. They are well made, fine finish, correct styles, and are an ornament to any room.

SMALL BOYS ARE BAD

The Mayor Has Some Complaints

ABOUT THE WAY THEY ACT

In Different Localities of the City—Three of Them Appear, Get a Lecture, and There Are More to Follow—Routine Police Business.

There was not an arrest yesterday, but Mayor Bough heard two complaints and each time the offenders were small boys.

Mrs. Hancock, who resides on Lisbon street, made complaint to His Honor that there is a crowd of small boys who make trouble for residents of that vicinity. They ring door bells, knock on the windows and in fact do everything possible to annoy the residents. They capped the climax a few evenings ago when they upset a wagon belonging to Mr. Vale which was standing in front of the home of Mrs. Hancock. The list of offenders included Joe Strauss, Sam Waters, Ed Dinerstein, Clarence McDole, Williard McDole, Frank Ward and Ed McShane.

Officer Mahony was sent out to gather in the boys and three of them called at the mayor's office last night. The mayor gave them a good lecture and let them go home, telling them the matter was too serious for him to decide without more thought. Strauss, Dinerstein and Ward are the boys who are accused of upsetting the wagon.

ANOTHER GANG OF BOYS.

The mayor received a complaint from one of the teachers at the Sheridan avenue school that a crowd of small boys who don't attend school, are in the habit of loafing around the school building, and interfering with the studies of the children. They pull down windows, blow tobacco smoke in the room, yell and act like a band of young Indians. A list of the boys will be submitted to the mayor and the gang will be rounded up. Both crowds of youngsters may find their way to Lancaster unless they reform.

ORDINARY POLICE CASES.

Ellis T. Shriver made complaint against Hennel O'Brien for acting disorderly in a Market street saloon. O'Brien was arrested, but Shriver withdrew the charge.

John Robinson, who was arrested by Officer Mahony while trying to get in the gallery window, was fined $6.60 when he appeared before the mayor this morning.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Mayor Bough is often called upon to settle disputes of all kinds and character and many people call upon him as referee in arguments. This morning he was asked to settle an argument in regard to the dog law and furnished the young men with the desired information.

REPUBLICANS.

Make note that THE LOWER REGION SHEET, of no known political faith, is devoting its columns to slandering Republicans and Republican gatherings, and doing all it can, in a sneaking manner, to belittle the party which has brought unprecedented success to the country at large. He prays, very fervently, "Good Lord—good devil." Republicans, in common with all men and voters who love courage and consistency, will look upon the fellow and his sheet with contempt and act accordingly.

AT LAST.

After over a year of talk, postponement and talk, council has at last decided to go ahead with the improvement of Trentvale street, the only fairly level outlet to the north of the city. The grading is to be done at once and the improvement completed as far as the $6,000 on hand will take it. It is hoped to have the grading done this fall and the street ready for further improvement in the spring. Having gone so far, the people look to council to do what they have promised. Trentvale street has many advantages. Horses are not blown before they get out of town climbing the hills back of the city. When improved there will be a fine outlet with an easy grade as far as Cannon's Mills. Good roads, offering easy ingress and egress to the city will be an invaluable boon.

COURT DECISION.

An Interesting Opinion Handed Down at Lisbon This Morning.

LISBON, Oct. 26.—[Special]—The court delivered an interesting opinion this morning in the case of Benjamin A. McCloskey against Thomas Thomas and others. An action was brought against the heirs of Emily R. Thomas, of Unity township, to foreclose a mortgage. The heirs were made party to the case and a decree taken for the sale of the property. Then an administrator of the estate was appointed. He was made a party by the plaintiff, but was not given time to answer before the sale was made. On the application to confirm the sale he objected. Held by the court that the administrator was not a necessary party to the case, but that he was a proper party, and after having been made a party by the plaintiff should have been given time to answer. Not having this time the sale was set aside.

"Born Equal, but Not Free." Here is a curious error," said the schoolboy as he laid down his "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and turned to the encyclopedia. The author uses the expression, "All men are born free and equal."

"Well, what is the matter with that?" inquired the schoolboy's uncle.

"Why, the quotation should be, 'All men are born equal.' There is no 'free' in it."

"Do you mean to tell me that Jefferson did not write 'free and equal' in the Declaration?"

"That's what he didn't."

"I'll bet you—Don't do it, uncle. Remember, you have a family to support, and they will need all your money. The word 'free' does not occur there. See?" And he placed the big book before his misguided relative.

"Oh, I know better! I will get a copy of the constitution in one of my old books. I have heard that quoted so often I know what I am talking about."

"You have heard it quoted wrong every time you heard the 'free' in it."

After they had found the good and reliable old book and all the rest of the authorities the uncle ungraciously gave up. But he hated to do so. It seems impossible to correct that wrong impression. The boy was right. Yet people will go on indefinitely making a "free" and inaccurate quotation.—Chicago Post.

THAT BADGE CANARD.

An Infamous Lie Manufactured by McLean's Organ.

CHAIRMAN DICK'S HOT REPLY.

Like the Sores of Other Fakes It Is Put Out to Obscure the Real Issues of the Campaign Which McLean and His Enquirer Are Afraid to Discuss.

Boss McLean's Cincinnati fake factory, which began a series of campaign fakes just after the Zanesville convention, every one of which has been a boomerang, reached the depths of newspaper infamy when it published a wild tale illustrated with a forged and fraudulent cut to the effect that the state Republican committee was sending out silk badges inscribed as follows:

Died,

ASA S. BUSHNELL,

In the

Hearts of All Loyal Republicans,

January 3, 1898.

An alleged fac simile of this badge was published with the article. The Enquirer said:

"Today these badges are being sent to every county in large consignments to Hanna's respective local bosses. The badges are of an expensive manufacture. They are, as before stated, of heavy white satin, and typographically artistic. The cost of their production to the committee is $25 per 1,000. Within the ensuing 10 days they doubtless will be seen on the lapels of Hanna pushers throughout the state."

This is a lie on the face of it. McLean's contempt for the intelligence of his readers could not be more apparent had he expressed it in direct words. The wonder of everyone connected with the Republican state organization is that McLean's peanut press bureau can not see the boomerang effect on its candidate of continuous malicious fabrications, which are flung back into McLean's face as a proved lie the day after their appearances.

Chairman Dick said in regard to the matter, when it was called to his attention: "The whole story is an infamous lie. If there is such a badge, it is manufactured by orders of McLean, for the purpose of creating discord among Republicans. The story is without a scintilla of foundation in fact, and is not even plausible."

"Mr. McLean's Enquirer is evidently afraid to discuss the issues of this campaign. It is resorting to these gross and absurd fakes in a vain attempt to obscure the real issues before the people and mislead voters, but it will not be successful."

From the beginning of the campaign the McLean press has been at work with its entire staff of fakirs in a tremendous effort to foment discord in the Republican party. Senator Foraker's splendid speech at Hamilton routed the McLeanites, but they afterward gathered as guerrillas and tried the Filipino tactics to accomplish what they could not do in the open. This latest story is only a little more bold and absurd than some of its predecessors, and INDICATES WHAT REPUBLICANS MAY EXPECT THE REMAINDER OF THE CAMPAIGN. EVERY IMAGINABLE FAKE AND LIE WILL BE USED IN A MAD AND DESPERATE EFFORT TO STAMPEDE VOTERS AND TO HIDE AND OBSCURE THE REAL ISSUES.

HAULING DOWN THE FLAG

McLean Now Advocates What He Condemned Cleveland For Doing.

Mr. McLean, in his Hamilton speech, advocated hauling down the American flag in the Philippines, where we have every right, national, international, legal and moral, to maintain it. There was a time, however, when he was very indignant because our flag was hauled down after it had been raised over Hawaii, although that island had not been ceded to us by treaty, ratified by the senate of the United States, as the Philippines have been.

On every possible occasion Mr. McLean's newspaper denounced Grover Cleveland for ordering Commissioner Blount to haul down the flag, which had been raised there under the Harrison administration, at the request of the provisional government at that place.

During the China-Japan trouble, there was some suggestion of Mr. Cleveland offering his good services to arbitrate the cause of the quarrel. In speaking of this proposition, The Enquirer said in an editorial Nov. 19, 1894:

"The offer of the administration to arbitrate is offensive, because it is the mapping out of a new foreign policy by a set of amateur diplomats that have made a mess of everything they have undertaken in the international line. The disgraceful attitude assumed by this government in the Hawaiian matter should be enough to discourage any further attempts on the part of Mr. Cleveland's establishment. This administration should be glad to have the fact that it ever had a foreign policy forgotten."

In a short editorial paragraph in The Enquirer of Jan. 12, 1895, Mr. McLean sarcastically said:

"Ex-Queen Lil should not be offended at the president of the United States. He is doing the best he can for her. He can't send Blount again to haul down the American flag, but he leaves no American to put it up if the British or Royalists haul it down."

Evidently Mr. McLean is in favor of hauling down the American flag in the Philippines simply to embarrass and oppose President McKinley and the Republican party in this hour when every patriot should rally to his support in the presence of the enemy. But Mr. McLean will find that the American people are patriotic to the core. Mr. McLean may shift when he thinks it to his political advantage, but the American people are patriotic all the time, and will rebuke at the polls the present unpatriotic attitude of the Democratic candidate for governor.

HE STANDS FIRM.

JUDGE SHEETS' STRONG PLATFORM ON TRUSTS.

Republican Candidate For Attorney General Will Enforce the Laws Without Fear or Favor For the Protection of the Whole People.

About one month ago the editor of a Columbus Democratic paper wrote a letter to Judge J. M. Sheets, Republican candidate for attorney general, requesting him to make a statement of his position on the question of trusts for publication.

Judge Sheets, on receipt of the letter, immediately wrote the following reply:

Ottawa, O., Sept. 12.

Dear Sir—On my return home I found awaiting me your letter requesting a statement as to my position on trusts. I have already stated for publication that I am in hearty accord with the principles and platform of the Republican party on that subject, and if called upon to discharge the duties of the office of attorney general I shall, to the best of my ability, see that all laws on the subject are faithfully enforced.

If, then, you will read the Republican platform and take the trouble to acquaint yourself with the fact that all anti-trust legislation in Ohio and in the rest of the nation has emanated from Republican sources, and that the Republican party is a party of principle and fulfills its promises, and that I am in hearty accord with the principles and platform of my party, you will be fully advised as to what I shall do if called to perform the duties of an attorney general. Respectfully,

J. M. SHEETS.

The editor pigeon-holed until recently, when he hunted it up and placed it in his box of speeches and carried it to Coshocton, where he addressed a small crowd of Democrats. When he reached the subject of trusts he took out Judge Sheets' letter, and according to the report in Mr. McLean's Enquirer, read the following garbled version of it:

Dear Sir—I have already stated for publication that I am in hearty accord with the principles and platform of the Republican party, and if called upon to discharge the duties of the office of attorney general, I shall, to the best of my ability, see that all laws on the trust subject are faithfully enforced. If you will read the Republican platform you will be fully advised of what I shall do if called upon to perform the duties of that office. Respectfully,

J. M. SHEETS.

the question naturally arises, why did Mr. McLean's Enquirer suppress that portion of Judge Sheets' letter which asserted that the Republican party had enacted all anti-trust legislation? The answer is evident. Judge Sheets' statement was too true to be available for the McLean Cincinnati bureau, and therefore unavailable for publication in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

It is needless to say that the methods of McLean's newspaper managers are treated with contempt by the reputable Democratic and Republican newspaper men of the country.

The people in northwestern Ohio, where Judge Sheets is personally known to everybody, do not ask questions as to his intentions. He has told them he will see to it that the laws are enforced. In 1893 they elected him judge of the judicial subdivision embracing Putnam, Henry and Fulton counties, and gave him a plurality of over 1,700 when the same counties gave 500 plurality for the general Democratic ticket. He served for five years with such general satisfaction that he came within 30 votes of re-election when his subdivision gave the rest of the Democratic ticket 2,088 plurality. The contemptible practices of McLean's newspaper bureau will not affect the candidacy of a man with a record like that of Judge Sheets.

The people in northwestern Ohio, where Judge Sheets is personally known to everybody, do not ask questions as to his intentions. He has told them he will see to it that the laws are enforced. In 1893 they elected him judge of the judicial subdivision embracing Putnam, Henry and Fulton counties, and gave him a plurality of over 1,700 when the same counties gave 500 plurality for the general Democratic ticket. He served for five years with such general satisfaction that he came within 30 votes of re-election when his subdivision gave the rest of the Democratic ticket 2,088 plurality. ## POLITICS OF DEWEY.

President McKinley's Friendship Sent Him to Asia.

FACTS FROM HIS OWN LETTERS.

His Approval of Depew's Oration Shows His Strong Belief in the Principles of the Republican Party in the Election of 1896.

It is an erroneous idea that Admiral Dewey made objections to taking command of the Asiatic squadron. Like much other Democratic gossip which seeks to make it appear that President McKinley and Dewey are not in harmony, it is false. As a matter of fact, Dewey desired it very much. This is shown conclusively in the letters addressed to his sister, Mrs. Mary P. Greeley of Montpelier, Vt., published in Mr. Halstead's biography of Admiral Dewey, pages 395-6-7. He wrote:

"Washington, July 27, 1897.

"It is possible that I may go to sea about Christmas, as there will be vacancy of the command of the Asiatic station at that time, and since another admiral has been ordered to the Pacific I hope to get what I desire."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 10, 1896.

"No orders to sea for me yet, and probably none will come before spring, unless we have a brush with Spain, which is not unlikely."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

"Washington, Nov. 1, 1897.

"Yes, I am to be congratulated, as I have received what is, to me, the best gift the president could make. I leave here about the 27th of this month, and sail from San Francisco by steamer of 7th of December.

"Expect to join my flagship Olympia at Yokohama about Christmas. I go out as commodore, and do not receive my promotion to rear admiral until next summer, a new rule to that effect having been made."

"GEORGE DEWEY."

It will be noted that Admiral Dewey in his letter of Nov. 1st, 1897, refers to the Asiatic station as "WHAT IS, TO ME, THE BEST GIFT THE PRESIDENT COULD MAKE."

This best gift the president could make was the president's personally written order to the secretary of the navy to place Commodore George Dewey in command of the Asiatic squadron, written out in the president's own hand overruling the determination of the navy department to make another appointment. This is a circumstance that Admiral Dewey has not forgotten, for since his homecoming he has repeatedly spoken of it in the warmest terms.

A great deal has been said about the political principles of Admiral Dewey. He has been reticent in their expression, as is the habit of the officers of the army and navy. But we have a clear view of his ideas, in his indorsement of the speech made at Montpelier, Vt., in 1896, by the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, now senator of the United States for the state of New York.

The admiral addressed this letter to his sister, Mrs. Greeley:

"Washington, Nov. 30, 1896.

"The address of Mr. Depew on our dear old state is most interesting, and I shall retain it for further reading. I feel quite proud to belong to such a grand old commonwealth."

The first part of Mr. Depew's speech referred to the heroes of the Green Mountain state and he divided the history of Vermont and the country into three historical periods, the third period which was reconstruction after war touched in Depew's trenchant style on the great political issues of the campaign of 1896. It was this portion which was warmly approved by the admiral. The following paragraph shows the strong Republican tone of it.

"The opportunities for independence were equally open to all under equal laws, and with every man equal before the law. But without our scarcely knowing, and certainly not recognizing its extent, and the possibility of concentrating it as a political force, discontent had seized upon the people as never before. It assumed again the form of an assault upon the time-honored and revolutionary principles of American liberty. As we enter upon the fourth period, we should remember that a shifting standard of value is not American. A paternal government is not American. Any effort to array the people into classes, when employers and employees are constantly changing places, is not American. An assault upon the independence of the judiciary is not American. American liberty is the liberty of law and order; American government is government by the people under universal suffrage. They make their own laws and the genius of our institutions is that those laws thus made by the people themselves will be obeyed by the power which makes them."

GOVERNMENT OF SAMOA

Likely to Remain Tripartite as Germany and England Can't Agree.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The state department is without late official advices from Samoa, respecting the existence of fresh troubles among the natives on the islands, but it is believed that these latest reported events are not really threatening in character.

Negotiations have produced no satisfactory plan to replace the present system of government. The United States has an accurate idea of what it wants and it is believed that these wants are not obnoxious either to Germany or Great Britain, but these nations can't agree.

The indications are that the three governments must content themselves for some time to come with an administration of affairs in Samoa under the terms of the Berlin treaty, with some slight modifications in the direction suggested in the report of the Samoan commission. It is now settled that Chief Justice Chambers will not return to Apia, but he will be provided for in a manner which will demonstrate the satisfaction of the president with his course.

TO THANK PROVIDENCE.

President McKinley Appoints Nov. 30 as a National Day of Thanksgiving.
His Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The president issued the following thanksgiving proclamation:

A national custom dear to the hearts of the people calls for the setting apart of one day in each year as an occasion of special thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings of the preceding year. This honored observance acquires with time a tenderer significance. It enriches domestic life. It summons under the family roof the absent children to glad reunion with those they love.

Seldom has this nation had greater cause for profound thanksgiving. No great pestilence has invaded our shores. Liberal employment waits upon labor. Abundant crops have rewarded the efforts of the husbandman. Increased comforts have come to the home.

The national finances have been strengthened, and public credit has been sustained and made firmer. In all branches of industry and trade there has been an unequalled degree of prosperity, while there has been a steady gain in the moral and educational growth of our national character. Churches and schools have flourished. American patriotism has been exalted. Those engaged in maintaining the honor of the flag with such signal success have been in a large degree spared from disaster and disease. An honorable peace has been ratified with a foreign nation with which we were at war, and we are now on friendly relations with every power on earth.

The trust which we have assumed for the benefit of the people of Cuba has been faithfully advanced. There is marked progress toward the restoration of healthy industrial conditions, and under wise sanitary regulations the island has enjoyed unusual exemption from the scourge of fever. The hurricane which swept over our new possession of Porto Rico, destroying the homes and property of the inhabitants, called forth the instant sympathy of the people of the United States, who were swift to respond with generous aid to the sufferers.

While the insurrection still continues in the island of Luzon, business is resuming its activity and confidence in the good purposes of the United States is being rapidly established throughout the archipelago.

For these reasons and countless others, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, do hereby name Thursday, the 30th day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed as such by all our people on this continent and in our newly acquired islands as well as by those who may be at sea or sojourning in foreign lands; and I advise that on this day religious exercises shall be conducted in the churches or meeting places of all denominations in order that in the social features of the day its real significance may not be lost sight of, but fervent prayers may be offered to the most high for a continuance of the divine guidance, without which man's efforts are vain, and for divine consolation to those whose kindred and friends have sacrificed their lives for country.

I recommend also that this day so far as may be found practicable labor shall cease from its accustomed toil and charity abound toward the sick, the needy and the poor.

In witness thereof I have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

A SWORD GIVEN SAMSON.

The One Voted Him by New Jersey Legislature Presented.

TRENTON, Oct. 26.—Admiral Sampson

was presented with a sword by Governor Vorhees, on behalf of the state of New Jersey, as a mark of appreciation of his services during the Spanish war. The presentation took place in the assembly chamber of the capitol in the presence of a distinguished audience of naval officers and persons prominent in the public and social life of the state. The naval officers present included nearly all those associated with Admiral Sampson before the entrance to Santiago harbor.

Among those present were Rear Admiral Melville, Captains Chadwick of the New York, Taylor of the Indiana, Philip of the Texas, Clarke of the Oregon, Sands of the Columbia, Bronson of the Yankee, Train of the Prairie, Folger of the Kearsarge, Deleahy of the Pawnee and Lieutenant Commander Winslow, the admiral's flag lieutenant.

Admiral Sampson, accompanied by his wife, arrived here and, after breakfast, the party was driven to the Industrial School for Girls, where the admiral was presented with a flag. He made a short address to the pupils.

The formal presentation ceremonies took place later in the day. Senator Ketcham, chairman of the joint legislative committee, addressed the admiral and read the resolution of the legislature providing for the presentation by the state of a sword to him.

Governor Voorhees made the formal presentation, to which the admiral replied.

During the firing of a salute in honor of the admiral Walter English of the Garfield company, Sons of Veterans, had both hands blown off by the premature discharge of a cannon he was loading.

Must Answer For His Crime.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—E. S. The governor of Washington, it is said, would not have given the fugitive up had the prisoner objected, but he came willingly.

Hon. W. T. Willey III.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 26.—The condition of the venerable ex-senator, William T. Willey, of this place, is seriously alarming his friends. He has been living quietly since his retirement, and seemed certain to round out the full century. Recently, however, he has been attacked with insomnia and has been growing weaker. He has not been the same since the death of Governor Pierpoint of Pittsburg, which took away the last of his peers.

Wants Troops to Protect Court.

LONDON, Ky., Oct. 26.—Three companies of militia have been requested from Governor Bradley pending the trial of the Griffins and Chadwells for the recent killing of the Philpots. Judge Eversole had made a statement about the armed feudists assembling for the trial at Manchester, Clay county, and about the witnesses being afraid to appear.

ASKS FOR PROSECUTIONS.

National Civil Service Reform League Writes to Commission About the Ohio Matter.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—A statement was given out by George McAuley, secretary of the National Civil Service Reform League, in which he said:

"The National Civil Service Reform League has addressed a letter to the civil service commission, asking that steps be taken to secure the prosecution of the federal officers and others responsible for the action of the Ohio Republican state committee in sending appeals for political contributions to government employees throughout the country. The chairman of the committee in question is Congressman Charles Dick of the Nineteenth Ohio district."

In this letter to the civil service commission it alleged that the letters to government employes were printed on letter heads of the "finance committee of the Ohio state executive committee," and it is pointed out that these letters explicitly stated that the money solicited is to be applied to the uses of the full committee, of which Mr. Dick is chairman.

It is alleged further that the circular had been sent to thousands of government subordinates in all parts of the country, including even clerks and other minor employes in the New York custom house.

Dewey's Home Turned Over to Him.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The house on Rhode Island avenue, recently purchased for Admiral Dewey by popular subscription, was formally turned over to him by Assistant Secretary Vanderbilt and United States Treasurer Roberts of the Dewey home fund committee. The purchase price was about $60,000. Two subscriptions were received which completed the payment, including the expenses incident to the project. One for $1,000 came from Brooklyn, and the other, $275, was received from the Western Union Telegraph company.

Students Threatened With Suspension.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 26.—The members of the freshman class of Franklin and Marshall college were notified that the entire class would be suspended if they did not pay the bill for expenses incurred in repairing damage done by them during a recent skylarking, in which they painted prominent city buildings with legends deriding the sophomores. The stonework on the college buildings had to be redressed to efface the paint. The students were given until Saturday.
